Global NATO and the Catastrophic Failure in Libya Horace Campbell,2013-03-01 In this incisive account scholar Horace Campbell investigates the political and economic crises of the early twenty first century through the prism of NATO's intervention in Libya He traces the origins of the conflict situates it in the broader context of the Arab Spring uprisings and explains the expanded role of a post Cold War NATO This military organization he argues is the instrument through which the capitalist class of North America and Europe seeks to impose its political will on the rest of the world however warped by the increasingly outmoded neoliberal form of capitalism The intervention in Libya characterized by bombing campaigns military information operations third party countries and private contractors exemplifies this new model Campbell points out that while political elites in the West were quick to celebrate the intervention in Libya as a success the NATO campaign caused many civilian deaths and destroyed the nation s infrastructure Furthermore the instability it unleashed in the forms of militias and terrorist groups have only begun to be reckoned with as the United States learned when its embassy was attacked and personnel including the ambassador were killed Campbell s lucid study is essential reading for anyone seeking to understand this complex and weighty course of events

Afrofuturisms Isaac Vincent Joslin,2023-05-09 An exploration of Francophone African literary imaginations and expressions through the lens of Afrofuturism Generally attributed to the Western imagination science fiction is a literary genre that has expressed projected technological progress since the Industrial Revolution However certain fantastical elements in African literary expressions lend themselves to science fiction interpretations both utopian and dystopian When the concept of science is divorced from its Western rationalist materialist positivist underpinnings science fiction represents a broad imaginative space that supersedes the limits of this world Whether it be on the moon under the sea or elsewhere within the imaginative universe Afrofuturist readings of select films novels short stories plays and poems reveal a similarly emancipatory African future that is firmly rooted in its own cultural mythologies cosmologies and philosophies Isaac Joslin identifies the contours and modalities of a speculative futurist science fiction rooted in the sociocultural and geopolitical context of continental African imaginaries Constructing an arc that begins with gender identity and cultural plurality as the bases for an inherently multicultural society this project traces the essential role of language and narrativity in processing traumas that stem from the violence of colonial and neocolonial interventions in African societies Joslin then outlines the influential role of discursive media that construct divisions and create illusions about societal success belonging and exclusion while also identifying alternative critical existential mythologies that promote commonality and social solidarity The trajectory proceeds with a critical analysis of the role of education in affirming collective identity in the era of globalization the book also assesses the market driven violence that undermines efforts to instill and promote cultural and social autonomy Last this work proposes an egalitarian and ecological ethos of communal engagement with and respect for the diversity of the human and natural worlds

Indirect Subjects Matthew H. Brown,2021-08-23 In Indirect Subjects Matthew H Brown analyzes the content of the prolific Nigerian film industry s mostly direct to video movies alongside local practices of production and circulation to show how screen media play spatial roles in global power relations Scrutinizing the deep structural and aesthetic relationship between Nollywood as the industry is known and Nigerian state television Brown tracks how several Nollywood films in ways similar to both state television programs and colonial cinema productions invite local spectators to experience liberal capitalism not only as a form of exploitation but as a set of expectations about the future This mode of address which Brown refers to as periliberalism sustains global power imbalances by locating viewers within liberalism but distancing them from its processes and benefits Locating the wellspring of this hypocrisy in the British Empire s practice of indirect rule Brown contends that culture industries like Nollywood can sustain capitalism by isolating ordinary African people whose labor and consumption fuel it from its exclusive privileges 365 Days of Real Black History Supreme Understanding,Robert
