Handbook of Research on Study Abroad Programs and Outbound Mobility Velliaris, Donna M., Coleman-George, Deb, 2016-08-24 Millions of students seek short and long term study abroad options every year and this trend is a key illustration of the internationalization of higher education. Because a global perspective has become mandatory in the largely globalized workforce, many institutions look to study abroad programs to prepare their students. This outbound mobility has the potential to contribute to greater understanding between cultures, countries, and individuals. The Handbook of Research on Study Abroad Programs and Outbound Mobility offers a comprehensive look into motivations for and opportunities through all forms of outbound mobility programs. By providing empirically based research, this publication establishes the benefits, difficulties, and rewards of building a framework to support international students and programs. It is an invaluable resource for academics, students, policy makers, course developers, counselors, and cross-cultural student advisors.

Writing Skills for Nursing and Midwifery Students Dena Bain Taylor, 2012-11-16 Nursing and midwifery students are required to communicate in writing in a variety of forms for a variety of potential audiences, including their colleagues, allied health professionals, administrators, and most importantly, their patients and the public. Dena Bain Taylor is an experienced teacher of writing and critical skills across the range of allied health professions and understands the types of writing nursing and midwifery students do and the writing issues they face. Her accessible, straightforward book, tailored specifically to the content and conventions of nursing and midwifery curricula, teaches students to write persuasively and correctly both to support them in their courses and to prepare them for their professional careers. The book offers practical strategies for using language to achieve clear, persuasive writing, provides clear explanations of underlying principles, contains samples of good and improvable writing, leading the student step by step through the whole writing process, focuses on the genres and styles of writing that nursing and midwifery students are typically asked for. With regular summaries, learning aids, checklists, and a glossary of key terms, nursing and midwifery students at all levels will find this book easy to follow and handy to refer to for help with the writing they need to do throughout their course.

Referencing for Genealogists Ian G. Macdonald, 2018-05-28 Reliable genealogical conclusions depend on reliable data. Central to any good investigation is an appreciation of where the data came from so that other investigators can re-examine it and re-establish the conclusions reached. Genealogy is little more than anecdote when the sources for facts are not cited and where clear references to sources are not given. Referencing for Genealogists will enable others to follow in your footsteps because it gives you the means to write clear, unambiguous references that provide solid support to the evidence you offer towards your conclusions. It is packed with examples that the reader can learn from and that also provide a treasure trove of sources invaluable to any genealogist The Elements of Inquiry Peter J. Burke, Sara Jimenez Soffa, 2018-03-23 The Elements of Inquiry covers the basic guidelines for graduate students doing an investigation or inquiry project. It distills the rubrics necessary for teaching research methods and completing research projects and gives the student researcher a list of steps to follow to complete any type of inquiry project including formal research projects such as doctoral dissertations. It was written to support the work of students in an educational leadership doctoral program but it will also assist the research efforts of college students at any level in any discipline. The book begins by establishing the underlying philosophical concepts upon which all good research is based, preparing students to get down to the nuts and bolts of conducting their own research and evaluating the research of others. Fundamental concepts and rules of research are explained both for producers and consumers of social science and educational research. Numerous practical examples illustrate the steps in the research process presented in the text. There are end of chapter exercises for students to apply the concepts discussed in the chapter. Templates for organizing and presenting research provide students with a game plan for success with their research. The book ends with an up to date annotated bibliography of beginning and advanced research texts allowing students easy access to books that detail the more specialized research topics. While most research books detail one or more method in depth, this text provides a broad introduction to many techniques and models used in doctoral dissertations and will be of particular value to those who are consumers of inquiry studies and research reports. Key to the overview provided is the annotated bibliography that leads the reader to the next stage of understanding or doing research.

Writing Theology Well 2nd Edition Lucretia B. Yaghjian, 2015-09-24 A working guide for students conducting theological writing and research on theology and biblical studies courses, this book integrates the disciplines of writing rhetoric and theology to provide a standard text for the teaching and mentoring of writing across the theological curriculum. As a theological rhetoric, it also encourages excellence in theological writing in the public domain by helping to equip students for their wider vocations as writers, preachers, and communicators in a variety of ministerial and professional contexts. This 2nd Edition includes new chapters on Writing Theology in a New Language, which explores the linguistic and cultural challenges of writing theology well in a non-native language, and Writing and Learning Theology in an Electronic Age, addressed to distance learning students learning to write theology well from online courses and dealing with the technologies necessary to do so.
