Engaging the Senses: Object-Based Learning in Higher Education Helen J. Chatterjee, Leonie Hannan, 2016-03-09
The use of museum collections as a path to learning for university students is fast becoming a new pedagogy for higher education Despite a strong tradition of using lectures as a way of delivering the curriculum the positive benefits of active and experiential learning are being recognised in universities at both a strategic level and in daily teaching practice As museum artefacts specimens and art works are used to evoke provoke and challenge students engagement with their subject so transformational learning can take place This unique book presents the first comprehensive exploration of object based learning as a pedagogy for higher education in a broad context An international group of authors offer a spectrum of approaches at work in higher education today They explore contemporary principles and practice of object based learning in higher education demonstrating the value of using collections in this context and considering the relationship between academic discipline and object based learning as a teaching strategy

Marketing - The Retro Revolution Stephen Brown, 2001-06-07 the finest writer in our field today Journal of Marketing the great heretic Retrospectives in Marketing the most devastating critic of the academic discipline of marketing ever likely to be encountered Service Industries Journal a jewel in the crown of the academic marketing establishment Marketing Intelligence and Planning remarkably entertaining Public Library Journal dazzling erudition European Journal of Marketing instant classic Journal of Marketing Management Has marketing moved from new and improved to as good as always Is old the new new Retro marketing is all around us whether it be retro products like the neo Beetle retro scapes such as Niketown or retro advertising campaigns which make the most of the advertiser s glorious heritage The rise of retro has led many to conclude that it represents the end of marketing that it is indicative of inertia ossification and the waning of creativity Marketing The Retro Revolution explains why the opposite is the case demonstrating that retro orientation is a harbinger of change and a revolution in marketing thinking In his engaging and lively style Stephen Brown shows that the implications of today s retro revolution are much more profound than the existing literature suggests He argues that just as retro marketing practitioners are looking to the past for inspiration so students consultants and academics should seek to do likewise History reveals that new ideas often come wrapped in old packaging Marketing the Retro Revolution unwraps this retro package and in doing so offers radically new ideas for the future of the field

19th Century Europe Hannu Salmi, 2013-04-24 Nineteenth Century Europe offers a much needed concise and fresh look at European culture between the Great Revolution in France and the First World War It encompasses all major themes of the period from the rising nationalism of the early nineteenth century to the pessimistic views of fin de si cle It is a lucid fluent presentation that appeals to both students of history and culture and the general audience interested in European cultural history The book attempts to see the culture of the nineteenth century in broad terms integrating everyday ways of life into the story as mental material and social practices It also highlights ways of thinking mentalities and emotions in order to construct a picture of this period of another kind that goes beyond a story of isms or intellectual and artistic movements Although the nineteenth century has often been described as a century of rising factory pipes and grey industrial cities as a cradle of modern culture the era has many faces This book pays special attention to the experiences of contemporaries from the fear for steaming engines to the longing for the pre industrial past from the idle calmness of bourgeois life to the awakening consumerism of the department stores from curious exoticism to increasing xenophobia from optimistic visions of future to the expectations of an approaching end The century that is only a few generations away from us is strange and familiar at the same time a bygone world that has in many ways influenced our present day world

The Representation of Genocide in Graphic Novels Laurike in 't Veld, 2018-12-19 This book mobilises the concept of kitsch to investigate the tensions around the representation of genocide in international graphic novels that focus on the Holocaust and the genocides in Armenia Rwanda and Bosnia In response to the predominantly negative readings of kitsch as meaningless or inappropriate this book offers a fresh approach that considers how some of the kitsch strategies employed in these works facilitate an affective interaction with the genocide narrative These productive strategies include the use of the visual metaphors of the animal and the doll figure and the explicit and excessive depictions of mass violence The book also analyses where kitsch still produces problems as it critically examines depictions of perpetrators and the visual and verbal representations of sexual violence Furthermore it explores how graphic novels employ anti kitsch strategies to avoid the dangers of excess in dealing with genocide The Representation of Genocide in Graphic Novels will appeal to those working in comics graphic novel studies popular culture studies and Holocaust and genocide studies

Pun(k) Deconstruction Jan Jagodzinski, 2018-12-07 In Postmodern Dilemmas Outrageous Essays in Art Art Education and Pun k Deconstruction Experifigural Writings in Art Art Education Jan Jagodzinski presents a series of essays covering a timespan of approximately ten years These essays chart the theory and practice of art art education as it relates to issues of postmodernity and poststructuralism concerning representation identity politics consumerism postmodern architecture ecology phallogentrism of the artistic canon pluriculturalism media and technology and AIDS As a former editor of The Journal of Social Theory in Art Education and a founding member for the Caucus on Social Theory in Art Education the author attempts to deconstruct the current art education paradigm which is largely based on modernist tenets and to reorient art education practice to social issues as developed in both media education and cultural studies Part of the intent in these two volumes is to undertake a sustained critique of the 1982 Art in the Mainstream A I M statement which continues to be considered as the core value for art education The distinct intention of this critique is to put forward a new value base for art art education in these postmodern times Many of the essays raise the need to be attentive to sex gender issues in art art education and the need to read the artistic discourse otherwise There is a sustained critique of the art programs developed by the Getty Center for the Arts whose arts curriculum presents the paradigm case of late modernist thinking Some essays are written in a provocative form that tries to accommodate such content This is particularly the case in Pun k

Deconstruction where architectural discourse is deconstructed and which includes an artistic performance given by the author in 1987 This singular set of volumes combines scholarship in the areas of gender studies aesthetics art history art education poststructuralism and cultural studies in a unique blend of theory and practice for rethinking the field of art education

Imagining Marketing Stephen Brown,Anthony Patterson,2001-02-01 Imagination is a word that is widely used by marketing practitioners but rarely examined by marketing academics This neglect is largely due to the imagination s artistic connotations which run counter to the scientific mindset that dominates marketing scholarship Of late however an artistic turn has taken place in marketing research and
