

The background of the book cover is a warm, painterly illustration. In the upper half, a man and a woman are shown in a close embrace, nearly kissing. The man is on the right, with dark hair, and the woman is on the left, with blonde hair. The lighting is soft and golden, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. Below them, a busy street scene unfolds. There are several vintage cars, including a prominent dark-colored sedan on the left. People are walking along the sidewalks, and there are buildings with balconies in the background. The overall color palette is dominated by warm tones like orange, yellow, and brown.

The Algerian War in Film Fifty Years Later, 2004-2012 Anne Donadey, 2020-10-07 The Algerian War in Film Fifty Years Later 2004 2012 examines the cultural political and aesthetic significance of narrative films made during the fiftieth anniversary period of the war between 2004 and 2012 This period was a fruitful one in which film became a central medium generating varied representations of the war and Anne Donadey argues that the fiftieth anniversary film production contributed to France's move from a period of the return of the repressed to one of difficult anamnesis Donadey provides a close analysis of twenty narrative films made during this period on both side of the Mediterranean observing that while some films continue to center on the point of view of only one stake holding group a number of films open up new opportunities for multicultural French audiences to envision the war through the eyes of Algerian characters on screen and other films bring memories from various groups together in thoughtful articulations that represent the complexity of the situation Donadey takes this analysis a step further to analyze what types of gendered representations emerge in these films given the important participation of Algerian women in the revolutionary war Scholars of Francophone studies film women's studies and history will find this book particularly useful Colonial Continuities and Decoloniality in the French-Speaking

World Sarah Arens, Nicola Frith, Jonathan Lewis, Rebekah Vince, 2024-02-06 This volume pays tribute to the work of Professor Kate Marsh 1974 2019 an outstanding scholar whose research covered an extraordinarily wide range of interests and approaches encompassing the history of empire literature politics and cultural production across the Francophone world from the eighteenth to the twenty first century Each of the chapters within engages with a different aspect of Marsh's interest in French colonialism and the entanglements of its complex afterlives whether it be her interest in the longevity of imperial rivalries loss and colonial nostalgia exoticism and the female body decolonization and the ends of empire the French colonial imagination the policing of racialized bodies or anti colonial activism and resistance As well as reflecting the geographical and intellectual breadth of Marsh's research the volume demonstrates how her work continues to resonate with emerging scholarship around decoloniality transcolonial mobilities and anti colonial resistance in the Francophone world From French India to Algeria and from the Caribbean to contemporary France this collection demonstrates the persistent relevance of Marsh's scholarship to the histories and legacies of empire while opening up conversations about its implications for decolonial approaches to imperial histories and the future of Francophone Postcolonial Studies

Monuments Decolonized Susan Slyomovics, 2024-07-23 Statuomania overtook Algeria beginning in the nineteenth century as the French affinity for monuments placed thousands of war memorials across the French colony But following Algeria's hard fought independence in 1962 these monuments took on different meaning and some were repatriated to France legally or clandestinely Today in both Algeria and France people are moving and removing vandalizing and preserving this contested yet shared monumental heritage Susan Slyomovics follows the afterlives of French built war memorials in Algeria and those taken to France Drawing on extensive fieldwork in both countries and interviews with French and Algerian heritage actors and artists she analyzes the colonial nostalgia dissonant heritage and ongoing decolonization and iconoclasm of these works of art Monuments emerge here as objects with a soul offering visual records of the colonized Algerian native the European settler colonizer and the contemporary efforts to engage with a dark colonial past Richly illustrated with more than 100 color images Monuments Decolonized offers a fresh aesthetic take on the increasingly global move to fell monuments that celebrate settler colonial histories

Cinema and the Algerian War of Independence Ahmed Bedjaoui, 2020-03-25 The book examines the war of images between France and Algeria Discussing the role of the United States during the war it covers topics such the presence of American reporters in Algeria John F Kennedy s support for Algerian independence while a senator the broadcasting of documentaries on the Algerian war on public television and reporting in the press Even half a century after Algerian independence there remains a need for both film and literature on the war from both sides of the Mediterranean This might seem surprising particularly to media professionals given the quantity of output on the subject but both French and Algerian portrayals of the war remain flawed and shackled to their respective ideologies The generation of FLN leaders recognized early on the importance of images and established a clandestine film structure that would bring the Algerian cause to the world stage The book offers an insightful and timely contribution not just to the field of North African studies but also to other disciplines such as film and media studies anthropology history journalism and political science Providing a rich source of research topics and viable ideas for film and documentary projects it is a must read for students scholars and media professionals alike

The Algerian War in French-Language Comics Jennifer Howell, 2015-10-08 The decolonization of Algeria represents a turning point in world history marking the end of France s colonial empire the birth of the Algerian republic and the appearance of the Third World and pan Arabism Algeria emerged from colonial domination to negotiate the release of American hostages in Iran during the Carter administration Radical Islam would later rise from the ashes of Algeria s failed democracy leading to a civil war and the training of Algerian terrorists in Afghanistan Moreover the decolonization of Algeria offered an imperfect model of decolonization to other nations like South Africa that succeeded in abolishing apartheid while retaining its white settler population Algeria and its war of national liberation therefore constitute an inescapable reference for those looking to understand today s war on terror and ever expanding islamophobia in Western media circuits Consequently it is imperative that students and educators understand the global implications of the Algerian War and how to best approach this conflict in school and at home so as to learn from the consequences of misrepresentation at all levels of the memory transmission chain These objectives are all the more important today given the West s misunderstanding and mischaracterization of Islam the Arab Spring the Muslim majority world and most importantly the continuing influence of French colonialism especially in the postcolonial era Conceived as a case study The Algerian War in French Language Comics Postcolonial Memory History and Subjectivity argues that comics provide an alternative to textbook representations of the Algerian War in France because they draw from many of the same source materials yet produce narratives that are significantly different This book demonstrates that although comics rely on conventional vectors of memory transmission like national education the family and mainstream media they can also create new and productive dialogues using these same vectors in ways unavailable to traditional textbooks From this perspective these comics are an effective and alternative way to develop a more inclusive social consciousness
