Toplak, Joshua Weller, 2016-11-25 Children face an overwhelming amount of information and a range of different choices every day, and so there has never been a more important time to understand how children learn to make judgments and decisions in our modern world. Focusing on the role of individual differences, the text provides a complementary theoretical approach to understanding the development of judgment and decision making skills and how and why these competencies vary within and between different periods of development.
