I Am Addict 12 Step Poetry:

I Am Addict Dennis Wright, 2010-12 In here is an offering An offering designed to enlighten and inspire anyone who is on the less traveled road laid out by the 12 steps of recovery I say less traveled because the numbers of true recoverees is relatively small in comparison to the numbers of people caught in addictions This collection has been many many years in the making I hope that it may bring some light and maybe a little humor to a relatively dark subject I have tried not to offend sensitive eyes and pallets but there is some language used in the cramped world of users that works when other language doesn't and some of it is in this collection I have refrained from vulgarity however and if you can tolerate some compromise I am sure you will be pleasantly rewarded If you are new to recovery you may be surprised at some of the things here that you thought no one else had ever thought It is important to remember that the common thread in addiction is the lie that you are the only one who has ever done the things you are doing There is only so much dysfunction in the world and when you have been on the road of recovery for a while it becomes amazingly redundant Everybody is stunned to find out they are not alone in their weirdness Stunned and then relieved to find out that there is a way out The bottom line is that we give up a life of using for a life of service When you find this and come to terms with serving people who usually don't care and you serve them anyway then and only then will you start receiving the rewards that await you I Am Addict Dennis

Please Hear What I'm Not Saying Charles C. Finn,2011-11-22 Standing at that magical place where sand meets sea you likely have imagined putting a message in a bottle consigning it to the waves hoping it might some day reach another shore and then not only be read but incredibly across space and time make a difference in other lives now connected to your own It has happened to me and I must sing of it In the autumn of 1966 I let the waves carry off a poem passed around to students family and friends no need for even my name on it Its message was simple Keep heart you are not alone love stronger than strong walls will come helping your heart in hiding grow wings feeble perhaps at first but wings Word astoundingly began to come back in 1969 and has continued since that Please Hear What Im Not Saying was indeed reaching other shores across space and time was indeed making a difference in other lives What follows attests to the power of words from the heart to touch other hearts sometimes even to change other lives Read on You too will sing of it
