Now your letters can say what you want, in the way you want. It can sound official, too, for Selectric has an impressive array of 48 type characters and a full range of accents. These capabilities are available in a variety of type faces. Your selection can make your letters sound like the most of the work.

On busy days, for example, use the clean, official-looking, Sanserif type. For your personal letters, the elegant, looking, Baskerville style suggests you mean business.

By using several type elements with the Selectric, you can afford the same versatility of several different typewriters. Larger businesses can bring a group of Secretaries into action on heavy volume or rush jobs, and by changing a matching type element into each one. There's the flexibility you need now.

It takes just 5 seconds to switch type elements. It's easy to use several type elements in the same letter. Changing the ribbon is just as simple, without switching rollers for special effect or function.

The Selectric is perfect for busy jobs, official letters, all other multi-use forms. Because there's no moving carriage, no paper and type change, you can put out a letter in under 30 seconds. Eliminating the moving carriage also eliminates the vibration and damage you find with other machines.

For your IBM representative for demonstration of the new Selectric, Selectric.

IBM Selectric. It has no equal.
