

Chapter 13*Genetic Engineering*Section 13–1 Changing the Living World (pages 319–321)

This section explains how people use selective breeding and mutations to develop organisms with desirable characteristics.

Selective Breeding (pages 319–320)

- What is meant by selective breeding? Only animals and plants with desired characteristics are allowed to produce the next generation.
- Circle the letter of each organism that has been produced by selective breeding.
☒ a. horses      ☒ b. dogs      ☒ c. cats      ☒ d. potatoes
- Who was Luther Burbank? He was a selective plant breeder who developed disease-resistant potatoes to help fight potato blight in Ireland, as well as over 800 varieties of other plants.
- Complete the compare-and-contrast table of types of selective breeding.

SELECTIVE BREEDING

| Type          | Description                                                                  | Examples                         |
|---------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| Hybridization | Crossing dissimilar individuals to bring together the best of both organisms | Disease-resistant Burbank potato |
| Inbreeding    | The continued breeding of individuals with similar characteristics           | Maintaining dog breeds           |

- Is the following sentence true or false? Hybrids are often hardier than either of the parents. true
- What two plant traits did Luther Burbank try to combine in his crosses?
  - Disease resistance
  - Food-producing capacity
- Is the following sentence true or false? To maintain the desired characteristics of a line of organisms, breeders often use hybridization. false
- Most members of a breed are genetically similar.
- What are the risks of inbreeding? There is always a chance that a cross between two individuals will bring together two recessive alleles for a genetic defect.

With a variety of learning activities, critical thinking exercises, case studies, and review questions, this study guide reinforces your mastery of the essential maternity and pediatric nursing concepts and skills you need to pass the NCLEX PN Examination and succeed in your nursing career. NCLEX exam style multiple choice review questions at the end of each chapter test basic chapter knowledge as well as ask for appropriate nursing actions, what the nurse should expect in terms of medical care of the patient, and what complications the patient is at risk of developing. Case Studies and Applying Knowledge activities provide additional opportunities to apply learned information to clinical care. Thinking Critically activities require you to apply what you've learned in the textbook to new situations and draw conclusions based on that knowledge. Learning activities include matching, labeling, and completion exercises to help you learn basic concepts of maternity and pediatric nursing. Crossword puzzles in selected chapters are a nice way to change up the format when testing comprehension of terms and concepts. Answer key is located on the student's Evolve website. Several Thinking Critically sections and case studies with critical thinking questions have been added. Alternate item format questions are included in the review questions for the NCLEX Examination      The Developing Person Through the Life Span Study Guide Richard O.
