Restoring Students' Innate Power Louise El Yaafouri, 2022-03-31 This book explores the effects of trauma on newcomer students and presents stress mitigating strategies that empower these multilingual students as they transition to a new environment Diverse insights and experiences bring high powered learning spaces to life However the cultural backgrounds of newcomer students and their families can be very different from the dominant norms of the new community resulting in misalignments that constitute a persistent challenge In addition the process of arriving can exacerbate stress Entering a new school or classroom means situating oneself within a new context of language culture community and shifting personal identities This transition shock contributes to a sense of diminished power In serving these students we can't afford to leave transition shock out of our conversations about trauma We must not only stitch together pieces of culturally responsive practice and trauma informed care but also become practitioners of stress mitigating strategies that empower newcomer students We must focus instruction on our students unique identities We must restore their power In Restoring Students Innate Power newcomer educator and cultural competency expert Louise El Yaafouri presents An understanding of transition shock and how stress and trauma affect recent arrivers The four pillars of transition shock and how they affect learning How students see themselves and how the cultural aspects of their identities inform teachers work in mitigating transition shock How social emotional learning links to trauma informed practice This book isn't exclusively about trauma it's about restoring power The distinction is critical Focusing on the trauma or traumatic event roots us in the past Restoration of power moves us forward

Trauma Responsive Educational Practices Micere Keels, 2023-03-17 No educator can ignore the effects of traumatic stressors on students This is especially true for those in schools serving racially and ethnically marginalized or low income children Every day millions of students in the United States go to school weighed down by interpersonal traumas community traumas and the traumatic effects of historical and contemporary race based oppression A wide range of adverse childhood events including physical verbal emotional and sexual abuse chronic bullying community or domestic violence and food and housing insecurity can lead to a host of negative outcomes However when schools provide developmentally supportive responses to these challenges post traumatic growth becomes possible In Trauma Responsive Educational Practices Micere Keels examines the neurobiology of trauma presents mindfulness strategies that strengthen student self regulation and extend professional longevity and demonstrates how to build pedagogically caring relationships psychologically safe discipline and an emotionally safe classroom learning climate Keels also shows educators how to attend to equity and use trauma as a critical lens through which to plan instruction and respond to challenging situations with coregulation It s important to understand that trauma is subjective and complex treatment is not prescriptive and recovery takes time This book helps educators support students on that road not merely to survive trauma but to focus on their strengths and flourish with effective coping skills

How to Reach the Hard to Teach Jana Echevarría, Nancy Frey, Douglas Fisher, 2016-08-26 For every teacher it s different but you know who they are for you the students who are hard to teach Maybe they re reading far below grade level Maybe they re English learners Maybe they have diagnosed learning disabilities or behavioral issues Maybe they re underachieving for reasons that are unknown They have been overlooked or underserved or frustrated and they re not learning as they should Until now Until you How to Reach the Hard to Teach presents a thoughtful and practical approach to achieving breakthrough success with linguistically and culturally diverse students who struggle in school Combining elements of the SIOP Model and the FIT Teaching approach authors Jana Echevarría a Nancy Frey and Douglas Fisher take stock of what we know about excellent instruction and distill it into five guiding principles 1 Set high expectations 2 Provide access to the core curriculum 3 Use assessment to inform instruction 4 Attend to language development both English and academic 5 Create a supportive classroom climate You ll learn specific practices associated with each principle and see how real life teachers are employing these practices in their classrooms so that all students have the opportunity to learn and receive optimal support for that learning Every teacher has had the experience of seeing a hard to teach student in a new light and realizing all he or she might achieve This book is about shining that light of possibility on the students who challenge us most interrogating our beliefs and taking action to ensure they receive the best instruction we have to offer

Joyful Resilience as Educational Practice Michelle Hughes, Ken Badley, 2021-09-30 Teaching is hard work Teaching is rewarding work An abundance of research on teachers mental health teacher burnout and attrition in the profession has proven the truth of the first claim And without reading a word of academic research teachers know the truth of the second there are numerous challenges and complexities involved in this noble profession Teachers also know the truth of our second claim that teaching is immensely rewarding work The editors and authors of Joyful Resilience as Educational Practice Transforming Teaching Challenges into Opportunities argue that the reciprocities of teaching keep them and countless other teachers in the profession While teaching is one of the most demanding professions on earth it is also one of the most rewarding professions Editors Michelle C Hughes and Ken Badley
