The Socioeconomic Dynamics of Settling Down Gary M. Feinman, Victor D. Thompson, 2025-10-09 The foundation of larger and more permanent communities and the cooperative nature of this process of sedentism was one of the most consequential transitions in human history Decades of archaeological research across the globe now indicate clearly that this process was not necessarily tied to a greater reliance on domesticated resources nor was it generally linked to a cessation of individual or household mobility For this reason the process of establishing larger and denser networks of social interaction was not necessarily unidirectional irreversible nor driven strictly by resource availability The process was highly social and the long term sustainability of these denser social aggregations and networks co occurred with the advent of new institutions and affiliations that often served to solidify the expanded interpersonal ties engendered by novel and more populated social contexts Yet consequentially the institutions modes of leadership affiliations and behaviors associated with settling down were markedly variable across time and space with variance often tied to the heritability concentration and distribution of the resources that sustained and financed these communities and their institutional components Resources and power were distributed to different degrees and were often situational Here we highlight and endeavor to account for variability in the tempo and timing of this process as well as the diverse paths that were taken in this key transformational episode in which the modes and scale of human cooperation often were reconfigured

Transformation Literacy Petra Künkel, Kristin Vala Ragnarsdottir, 2022-03-02 This open access book brings science and practice together and inspires a global movement towards co creating regenerative civilizations that work for 100% of humanity and the Earth as a whole With its conceptual foundation of the concept of transformation literacy it enhances the knowledge and capacity of decision makers change agents and institutional actors to steward transformations effectively across institutions societal sectors and nations Humanity is at crossroads Resource depletion and exponential emissions that not only cause climate change but endanger the health of people and planet call for a decisive turnaround of human civilization A new and transformative paradigm is emerging that advocates for regenerative civilizations in which a narrative of systemic health as much as individual and collective vitality guide the interaction of socio economic ecological systems Truly transformative change must go far beyond technical solutions and instead envision what can be termed a new operating system that helps humankind to live well within the planetary boundaries and partner with life's evolutionary processes. This requires transformations at three different levels: Mindsets that reconnect with a worldview in which human agency acknowledges its co-evolutionary pathways with each other and the Earth; Political, social and economic systems that are regenerative and foster the care-taking for Earth life support systems; Competencies to design and implement effective large-scale transformative change processes at multiple levels with multiple stakeholders. This book provides key ingredients for enhancing transformation literacy from various perspectives around the globe. It connects the emerging practice of stewarding transformative change across business, government institutions and civil society actors with the most promising scientific models and concepts that underpin human action to shape the future collectively in accordance with planetary needs.

World Public Sector Report 2023 Department of Economic and Social Affairs, 2023-10-25. This report examines the role that national institutional and governance innovations and changes that emerged during the COVID-19 pandemic can play in advancing progress towards the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. The consequences of the pandemic threaten to derail progress and make the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) more difficult to achieve. Yet the pandemic also sparked rapid innovation in government institutions and public administration that could be capitalized on. Against this backdrop, the report focuses on how governments can reshape their relationship with people and other actors to enhance trust and promote the changes required for more sustainable and peaceful societies. How they can assess competing priorities and address difficult policy trade-offs that have emerged since 2020. And what assets and innovations they can mobilize to transform the public sector and achieve the SDGs. The e-book for this publication has been converted into an accessible format for the visually impaired and people with print reading disabilities. It is fully compatible with leading screen reader technologies such as JAWS and NVDA.
