Representative French Poetry (Second Edition) Victor E Graham,1965-12-15 The making of a reasonably comprehensive anthology which is intended to do more than reflect the personal literary tastes of the anthologists is not an easy task but is certainly an exciting and challenging one It is important of course if it is to have coherence and validity that its audience be reasonably well defined and kept in mind as the selection proceeds The anthology offered by Professor Graham has been prepared carefully to meet the needs of students reading French poetry while in the early years of their university course It does not attempt to be a bulky sample of the whole field of French poetry but rather to be a judicious selection of the works of poets who may be described as typical of the best in their age From each of them have been included some well known selections which students must always meet and also some less well known which are nevertheless equal in quality and whose relative unfamiliarity may give them a special appeal to instructors A particularly interesting and valuable feature of the anthology is that the editor has in a good many cases chosen poems on similar themes from different authors and students will thus be able to compare styles of different centuries and different poets as applied to certain specific subjects For example the selection includes Deschamps Balade on Renart et le Corbaut and La Fontaine s Le Corbeau et le Renard Lamartine s and also Leconte de Lisle s Le Lac Crime and Punishment Fyodor Dostoyevsky,1886

A Soldier's Honour Emile Zola,1888 Families in Jeopardy Roddey Reid,1993 This interdisciplinary study shows how a new commercial and learned print culture attempted to write and regulate individual and collective practices in terms of a master idiom of family sexuality and gender upon which a post revolutionary national community would turn Offering a radical new approach to family and textuality in the field of cultural and literary studies the author argues that from its very inception this print culture from domestic manuals to public health reports and most notably prose fiction promoted new norms of behavior and selfhood not through narratives of idealized family life but instead by means of a rhetoric of danger lack and pathology The book follows familial discourse as it assigns deficient or illicit behaviors to ever wider social groups from the Old Regime nobility and the traditional bourgeoisie to the new middle classes urban workers and the peasants in the countryside to finally the new social elites of the late nineteenth century The author describes how the lack of normative family and sexuality became the primary tactic for designating social others within the social body and for reworking social and gender identities so as to authorize new knowing practices and expertise and new objects of knowledge and discipline Furthermore through analyses of novels by Bernardin de Saint Pierre Sue Balzac Sand Zola and Gide the author demonstrates that the peculiar force of the French novel resided in its power to reach wide newly literate audiences and to inscribe new identities and desires through the reading process Finally the book proposes the provocative thesis that because of these tales of threatened or failed family life the domestic conjugal household has never worked even down to our time it has always been in crisis endangered by forces from without and within and thus in constant need of protection and renewal

"The" Athenaeum, 1887 His Excellency Eugène Rougon Émile Zola, 1887 The prodigious adventures of Tartarin of Tarascon Alphonse Daudet, 1887 The Detective's Eye Fortuné Du Boisgobey, 1888 The woman of fire. Transl Adolphe Belot, 1886 The Meudon Mystery Jules Mary, 1888 The Ladies' Paradise Émile Zola, 1886 Translated by Frank Belmont In Three Volumes
