Partie rédigée

A Définition et problématique

1°) la notion

a) définition

La succession désigne la substitution d'un Etat à un autre sur un territoire donné. Elle résulte donc d'une mutation territoriale qui fait passer un territoire de la juridiction d'un Etat à celle d'un autre Etat.

De nombreuses mutations territoriales qui ont généré des successions d'Etat se sont produites lors de la décolonisation, le nouvel Etat indépendant succédant à l'Etat colonisateur. Mais d'autres se sont produites à l'occasion du démantèlement d'Empires (1919, turc et austro-hongrois) ou de dislocation d'États (URSS, Yougoslavie -1991- Tchécoslovaquie -1992-).

b) notions voisines

La succession est à distinguer de la continuation d'un Etat réorganisé : cas de l'Allemagne après la réunification, cas de la Russie après la disparition de l'URSS)

Dans le cas de la disparition de l'URSS trois cas sont à distinguer:

Pierre Michel Eisemann,Martti Koskenniemi,2000-05-19 The Hague Academy Centre for Studies and Research in International Law and International Relations devoted its Session of 1996 to the Succession of States including for the second time this topic in its programme but in a context very different from that in which the 1962 Session had been held Following the great wave of decolonizations the studies conducted in the Centre in 1962 had constituted a kind of prologue to the lengthy deliberations by the International Law Commission that led to the 1978 Convention on Succession of States in Respect of Treaties and the 1983 Convention on Succession of States in Respect of State Property Archives and Debts The less than enthusiastic reception that these Conventions had received from the international community seemed to condemn them into oblivion The extraordinary political developments in Eastern Europe in the late 1980s however suddenly focused interest in these questions anew As the theme of the Session indicates it became possible to examine the question of codification tested against these facts Twenty four participants from a French and an English section conducted this task with passion and

The International Legal System in Quest of Equity and Universality Laurence Boisson de Chazournes, Vera Gowlland-Debbas, 2021-10-18 Georges Abi Saab began his writing and teaching at a time when the process of decolonization and thereafter the quest for emancipation began to make its far reaching impact on the international scene producing significant changes in the international environment both quantitatively in increasing the number of nation States and qualitatively in changing patterns of interests and claims This was bound to result in new pressures on the international legal system itself and in a questioning of the traditional Eurocentric content of international law In his work and teaching Professor Abi Saab viewed the dynamics of international law as a function of two driving forces the emergence of the third world and the sense of injustice In his view the first driving force the emergence of the third world raised the problem of exclusion exclusion from participation in the elaboration of international law and the decision making process and exclusion as beneficiaries of the resulting rules of international law At the same time this new force introduced diversity into the international scene reflecting the richness of the international community in its different facets This process remains relevant today reflecting the contemporary problem of exclusion of new actors as well as their quest for participation The second driving force the sense of injustice posed a teleological problem for him that of defining community values in order that they capture the different facets of justice whether formal or distributive So long as there is no effective organic structure international law in his view will continue to remain effectiveness oriented reflecting rather than impacting on the structures of power Nevertheless it is undeniable that there is an on going process of development of community values and interests as Georges Abi Saab wrote with reference to international crimes law like all social phenomena is a continuous unfolding a continuous process of elaboration He has also considered that the dynamics of the international legal process itself can be captured from the perspective of international organizations as vehicles for change in the international system From his early writings Georges Abi Saab approached the United Nations Charter as a blueprint both normative and institutional for a certain type of international society International institutions with all their imperfections continue for him to be the means of realization of the law of cooperation which lies at the heart of his concept of the international system The themes selected for this volume in honour of Professor Georges Abi Saab are intended to reflect his unique and pioneering contribution to the field of international law The contributors are drawn from what he has always considered to be his large family of former students in his forty years of teaching Georges Abi Saab has acted as mentor to generations of students from all over the world who have benefited from his vision insights originality and creative and stimulating use of language The contributors also include colleagues and friends who share a similar vision of the international legal system Recueil Des Cours, Collected Courses 1928 Academie De Droit International De La Ha,Hague Academy of International Law,1981-08-01
