extends across archaeological historical and anthropological timescales This book is the first attempt to bring together evidence for the nature of human interactions with tropical forests on a global scale from the emergence of hominins in the tropical forests of Africa to modern conservation issues Following a review of the natural history and variability of tropical forest ecosystems this book takes a tour of human and human ancestor occupation and use of tropical forest environments through time Far from being pristine primordial ecosystems this book illustrates how our species has inhabited and modified tropical forests from the earliest stages of its evolution While agricultural strategies and vast urban networks emerged in tropical forests long prior to the arrival of European colonial powers and later industrialization this should not be taken as justification for the massive deforestation and biodiversity threats imposed on tropical forest ecosystems in the 21st century Rather such a long term perspective highlights the ongoing challenges of sustainability faced by forager agricultural and urban societies in these environments setting the stage for more integrated approaches to conservation and policy making and the protection of millennia of ecological and cultural heritage bound up in these habitats

Heart of Darkness - Ed. Goonetilleke - Third Edition Joseph Conrad, 2020-07-21 The first incarnation of this Broadview edition of Heart of Darkness appeared in 1995 the second in 1999 both were widely acclaimed and the Goonetilleke Heart of Darkness remained for many years one of Broadview's best selling titles For the third edition the book has been completely revised and updated to take account of the scholarship of the most recent generation The introduction has been extensively rewritten and the appendices of contextual materials thoroughly overhauled The two previous editions of the Goonetilleke Heart of Darkness included a substantial selection of documents on the history of Benin ranging from excerpts taken from Olaudah Equiano's eighteenth century narrative to documents concerning the Benin massacre of 1897 Those documents concerning a neighboring Bantu society were included in large part because of the paucity of known late nineteenth century documents concerning the Congo by black Africans or indeed by black observers of any nationality In place of those Benin related materials this new edition includes substantial excerpts from George Washington Williams's Letter to Leopold II as well as substantial excerpts from an extraordinary document not included in any other edition of Heart of Darkness but discussed extensively in two ground breaking twenty first century works of scholarship David Van Reybrouck's Congo The Epic History of a People and Maya Jasanoff's The Dawn Watch Joseph Conrad in a Global World the autobiography of Disasi Makulo Makulo grew up near the shore of the Congo River in the 1880s and early 1890s was enslaved by notorious ivory dealer Tippu Tip and then was taken under the wing of Henry Morton Stanley Makulo's account substantial excerpts of which are here translated into English for the first time opens an unprecedented window on life in the equatorial forest of the Congo in the late nineteenth century

On Compromise and Rotten Compromises Avishai Margalit, 2024-11-01 A searching examination of the moral limits of political compromise When is political compromise acceptable and when is it fundamentally rotten something we should never accept come what may What if a rotten compromise is politically necessary Compromise is a great political virtue especially for the sake of peace But as Avishai Margalit argues there are moral limits to acceptable compromise even for peace But just what are those limits At what point does peace secured with compromise become unjust Focusing attention on vitally important questions that have received surprisingly little attention Margalit argues that we should be concerned not only with what makes a just war but also with what kind of compromise allows for a just peace Examining a wide range of examples including the Munich Agreement the Yalta Conference and Arab Israeli peace negotiations Margalit provides a searching examination of the nature of political compromise in its various forms Combining philosophy politics and history and written in a vivid and accessible style On Compromise and Rotten Compromises is full of surprising new insights about war peace justice and sectarianism

White Minds Guilaine Kinouani, 2023-10-26 It is widely understood that race is a social fact with profound implications for life chances group identity collective representation and the social order Whiteness the source of race based inequality and injustice is perpetuated through power violence and an array of complex processes which help protect the status quo While there has been much focus on the psychological harm of racism on people of colour less attention has been paid to the role of psychological functioning of white groups in maintaining unequal social configurations In this much needed book Guilaine Kinouani a leading thinker and commentator on race deftly cuts to the heart of the problem arguing that whiteness is a historically and socially located psychosocial phenomenon as much as one which evades time and space locations She examines how the psychological and psychic factors involved in the reproduction of whiteness intersect with macro structures shedding light on everyday race dynamics race inequality and racial violence This book will be of interest to all who seek to understand the impact of whiteness so they can be more effective anti racists

Recovering Canada John Borrows, 2017-06-22 Canada is covered by a system of law and governance that largely obscures and ignores the presence of pre existing Indigenous regimes Indigenous law however has continuing relevance for both Aboriginal peoples and the Canadian state In his in depth examination of the continued existence and application of Indigenous legal values John Borrows suggests how First Nations laws could be applied by Canadian courts and tempers this by pointing out the many difficulties that would occur if the courts attempted to follow such an approach By contrasting and comparing Aboriginal stories and Canadian case law and interweaving political commentary Borrows argues that there is a better way to constitute Aboriginal Crown relations in Canada He suggests that the application of Indigenous legal perspectives to a broad spectrum of issues that confront us as humans will help Canada recover from its colonial past and help Indigenous people recover their country Borrows concludes by demonstrating how Indigenous peoples law could be more fully and consciously integrated with Canadian law to produce a society where two world views can co exist and a different vision of the Canadian constitution and citizenship can be created

African Epistemologies for Criticality, Decoloniality and Interculturality Hamza R'boul, 2025-04-24 This book addresses the underrepresentation and more importantly the misrepresentation of African epistemologies and traditions of thought in making sense of theorizing and doing interculturality Africa remains probably the most oppressed and silenced sphere throughout centuries of colonialism and contemporary coloniality Therefore such an anthology provides a platform for those insights that have substantial epistemic capacity to alter our taken for granted notions of what interculturality is and what it is about While a number of works have charted the contributions of African epistemologies in advancing our understanding of our intercultural realities this book argues that the processes of decoloniality through and within interculturality have never been about under misrepresentation per se but about how the politics of representation can provide inaccurate tokenistic and false inclusion This book aims to substantiate the notion that decoloniality and interculturality are mutually inclusive to demonstrate the affordances of African epistemologies in advancing intercultural knowledge and to support the need to make visible philosophical and power literate approaches to interculturality This book will be essential reading for scholars and students interested in African philosophy African epistemology and more broadly interculturality and intercultural communication

The Inwardness of Things Debra Romanick Baldwin,2024-12-16 The Inwardness of Things considers Joseph Conrad as a modern voice in an ancient and enduring quarrel between the poets and the philosophers Beginning from the polemical poetics of his 1897 preface Debra Romanick Baldwin focuses on Conrad s distinctively poetic inward approach to truth an inwardness that is found in lived experience in language and in the world beyond the individual The book traces Conrad s poetic voice from the rhetoric of his private letters to the narrative techniques of his fiction and finally to his explicit engagement with abstract approaches to truth Baldwin applies narrative and rhetorical analysis to Conrad s private correspondence showing how he encouraged fellow writers John Galsworthy F Warrington Dawson R B Cunninghame Graham Ted Sanderson and Edward Noble to engage with the inwardness of their own experience The book explores how Conrad crafted moments of narrative solidarity in his fictional narratives to evoke the experience of the inwardness of another while also considering his explicit polemics against abstract approaches to truth seeking Mindful of the colonial late Victorian Polish Romantic and cosmopolitan contexts in which Conrad wrote The Inwardness of Things nevertheless situates him in a broader human conversation that he himself invited and argues for the enduring value of his art
