11 "Accordingly, these two opposing types of responses to 12 an intervention pointing that threat suggests that the underlying driver could be the 13 social context.
14 "Furthermore, the institutional contexts of an organization influence people 15 in a way that influences important business operations through all different aspects and 16 activities, a phenomenon that, therefore, may only affect a specific area 17 without other business areas if not other areas are affected as well."

- It appears that most of the all-weather roads built in the past 10 years are in the United States and Canada. These countries have well-developed highway systems. Other countries, such as China, India, and Brazil, have large populations and are rapidly growing economies. They need more roads, but they do not have the money to build them. The World Bank is helping them to build roads, but it is not enough. The World Bank is also helping them to build bridges, but it is not enough.
