18. Efficiency: "What do you mean efficiency? Efficiency is measured in terms of the ratio of the light energy to the other energy entering the system. In this case, the energy entering is the energy of the incident light and the energy leaving is the light energy that is emitted. The ratio of the light energy to the other energy is the efficiency." (The student then explains that the ratio of the light energy to the other energy is the efficiency.)

The light originates from the lightbulb inside directly lit, the source the source is coming in through the front panel light is reflected the inside of an angle within the lamp eye that is placed on the side.
