The conservation of old Sanaa is a major cultural heritage initiative that began in the 1980 s under the auspices of UNESCO it continues today led by local agencies and actors In contrast to other parts of the world where conservation was introduced at a later date to remediate the effects of modernization in Yemen the two processes have been more or less concurrent This has resulted in a paradox unlike many other countries in the Middle East that abandoned traditional construction practices long ago in Yemen these practices have not died out Builders and craftsmen still work in traditional construction and see themselves as caretakers of the old city At the same time social forms that shaped the built fabric persist in both the old city and the new districts Yemenis in effect are not separated from their heritage by an historical divide What does it mean to conserve in a place where the historic past is in some sense still alive How must international agencies and consultants readjust theory and practice as they interact with living representatives of this historic past And what are the implications of the case of Sanaa for conservation in general Building a World Heritage City addresses these questions and also fosters greater cultural understanding of a little known but geopolitically important part of the world that is often portrayed exclusively in terms of unrest and political turmoil Rigenerare a sud Rigenerare il sud AA. VV., 2022-11-30 T00:00:00+01:00 82 4 Architecture Reperformed the Politics of Reconstruction Tino Mager, 2015-10-28

This book deals with the phenomenon of meticulous reconstruction in architecture It argues that the politics of reconstruction go far beyond aesthetic considerations Taking architecture as a major source of history and regional identity the impact of large scale reconstruction is deeply intertwined with political and social factors By bringing together eight case studies from Eastern Europe France Spain China Japan Israel and Brazil it provides valuable insights into this topic The chapters analyse the political background of the reconstructions and identify the protagonists The Political Unconscious of Architecture Nadir Lahiji, 2016-02-24 Thirty years have passed since eminent cultural and literary critic Fredric Jameson wrote his classic work The Political Unconscious Narrative as a Socially Symbolic Act in which he insisted that there is nothing that is not social and historical indeed that everything is in the last analysis political Bringing together a team of leading scholars including Slavoj Žižek, Joan Ockman, Jane Rendell and Kojin Karatani, this book critically examines the important contribution made by Jameson to the radical critique of architecture over this period, highlighting its continued importance to contemporary architecture discourse. Jameson's notion of the political unconscious represents one of the most powerful notions in the link between aesthetics and politics in contemporary discourse. Taking this along with other key concepts from Jameson as the basis for its chapters, this anthology asks questions such as: Is architecture a place to stage class struggle? How can architecture act against the conditions that affirmatively produce it? What does the critical and the negative mean in the discourse of architecture? and How do we prevent architecture from participating in the reproduction of the cultural logic of late capitalism? This book breaks new ground in architectural criticism and offers insights into the interrelationships between politics, culture, space and architecture, and in doing so it acts as a counter-balist to the current trend in architectural research where a general aestheticization dominates the discourse. Complexity and

Architecture RePerformed: The Politics of Reconstruction Tino Mager, 2016-03-09 First emerging at the beginning of the twentieth century, architectural reconstruction has increasingly become an instrument to visually revive a long bygone past. This book deals with the phenomenon of meticulous reconstruction in architecture. It argues that the politics of reconstruction go far beyond aesthetic considerations. Taking architecture as a major source of history and regional identity, the impact of large-scale reconstruction is deeply intertwined with political and social factors. Furthermore, memories and associations correlated with lost buildings of a bygone era are heavily influenced by their re-appearance, something which often contradicts historical events. Reconstruction has become an established way of building and dealing with the past, yet so far there is no comprehensive scientific study on it. By bringing together eight case studies from Eastern Europe, France, Spain, China, Japan, Israel and Brazil, it provides valuable insights into this topic. The chapters analyse the political background of the reconstructions and identify the protagonists. In doing so, this volume adds to our understanding of the impact of reconstruction on memory and oblivion, as well as the critical power of reconstruction regarding contemporary architecture and urbanism. Architecture Against the Post-Political Nadir Lahiji, 2014-05-23 Written by a team of renowned contributors and carefully edited to address the themes laid out by the editors in their introduction, the book includes theoretical issues concerning the questions of aesthetics and politics and addresses city and urban strategies within the general critique of the post-political. By focusing on specific case studies from Warsaw, Barcelona, Dubai, Tokyo and many more, the book consolidates the contributions of a diverse group of academics, architects and critics from Europe, the Middle East and America. This collection fills the gap in the existing literature on the relation between politics and aesthetics and its implications for the theoretical discourse of architecture today. In summary, this book provides a response to the predominant de-politicization in academic discourse and is an attempt to re-claim the abandoned critical project in architecture. The
