

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior to white people. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts Infantry, he begins to see them as individuals and not just as a race. This change in attitude is what allows him to lead the regiment with respect and dignity.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a regiment of African-American soldiers who fought in the American Civil War. The regiment was made up of soldiers from different parts of the United States, including the North and South. This diversity of origin and background is what makes the 54th so unique.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers in the 54th were often hostile and disrespectful to the African-American soldiers. However, as they spent more time together, some of the white soldiers began to change their attitudes and treat the African-American soldiers with more respect.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, African-American soldiers in the Union army were not treated equally to white soldiers. They were often paid less, given less food, and treated with more disrespect. However, their service was crucial to the Union's victory in the Civil War.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender is significant because it shows that he was willing to die for his country and his men. This decision inspired the 54th to fight with even greater determination and courage.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings?/thoughts come over you left with?

The incident ended as I expected. I was left with a sense of pride and respect for the 54th Massachusetts Infantry. I was also left with a sense of sadness for the lives that were lost during the Civil War. The 54th's bravery and sacrifice are a testament to the power of the human spirit.
