From Distant Tales Dominik Bonatz,John Miksic,J. David Neidel,2009-03-26 This is the most comprehensive book devoted to Sumatra in more than half a century It summarizes earlier studies and provides a huge amount of new knowledge for the first time in readily accessible form Sumatra is one of the world s largest islands rich in flora and fauna minerals and timber and located at the midpoint of the maritime route between China and India These are ideal conditions for the creation of a fascinating history Sumatra has played a major role in world trade for 2 000 years but its culture and archaeology have been surprisingly neglected This volume sets out to remedy this defect With chapters on history archaeology anthropology folklore and religion the authors focus particular attention on the relations between the coastal peoples who are best known to outsiders and the hinterlands where most of the important resources lie The list of authors includes most of the principal living authorities on Sumatra Their cumulative experience consists of many years on all parts of the island The book is copiously illustrated and includes a comprehensive bibliography for those who wish to pursue further study of the wide range of topics covered Oral Traditions of Southeast Asia and Oceania Herman C. Indonesian Houses, 2022-06-20 The traditional houses and settlements of the several hundred ethnic groups of Indonesia are extremely varied and all have their own unique history Underlying this rich diversity are fundamental similarities rooted in the ancient heritage that is shared by all the peoples in the Indonesian field of study The multiplicity of ways in which this heritage is given shape in each local situation bears witness to an amazing creativity in adapting to regional circumstances and social changes Inter ethnic comparison of the architectural structures is a way to arrive at a better understanding of both the shared traditions and the diverging developments In many cases the variety of house forms will reflect successful attempts at one group s making distinct its buildings from those of neighbouring groups in an ongoing ethnic process of what could be called mutual contrasting although sometimes by means of pseudo traditions which have little to do with indigenous customs of the past The contributions to this volume are grouped in four sections The first consists of essays describing approaches to the transformation and variation of houses The second set presents applications of these approaches in case studies of specific Sumatran cultures The third group widens the perspective through the inclusion of a number of cultures from outside Sumatra namely from Flores Sulawesi Kalimantan Palu and Roti The final set deals not so much with houses as with settlements In their pursuit of the cultural dimension of houses the contributions focus on villages and towns exploring their cosmological and symbolic organization

Oudheidkundig verslag ,1923 Mirror of the Indies Robert Nieuwenhuys,1982 This book is the definitive literary history of the colonial Dutch East Indies and is partially distinguished from its predecessors by its discussion of materials ranging from natural history and religious sermons to pamphlets and the accounts of travelers from the seventeenth through the twentieth centuries What emerges from this comprehensive approach is an unusually thorough and sensitive account of the manifold encounters of the Dutch with the East Indian societies that they conquered tried to understand and finally had to relinquish under the inevitable pressures of change and the desire for independence This history records how a hybrid literature emerges from that of the colonial culture to become a distinct literature of its own and why the concepts derived from European cultural history such as baroque or neoclassicism are totally inapplicable to the works discussed here
