The Civilization of Crime Eric Arthur Johnson, Eric H. Monkkonen, 1996 Along with most of the rest of Western culture has crime itself become more civilized This book exposes as myths the beliefs that society has become more violent than it has been in the past and that violence is more likely to occur in cities than in rural areas The product of years of study by scholars from North America and Europe The Civilization of Crime shows that however violent some large cities may be now both rural and urban communities in Sweden Holland England and other countries were far more violent during the late Middle Ages than any cities are today Contributors show that the dramatic change is due in part to the fact that violence was often tolerated or even accepted as a form of dispute settlement in village dominated premodern society Interpersonal violence declined in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries as dispute resolution was taken over by courts and other state institutions and the church became increasingly intolerant of it The book also challenges a number of other historical sociological theories among them that contemporary organized crime is new and addresses continuing debate about the meaning and usefulness of crime statistics CONTRIBUTORS Esther Cohen Herman Diederiks Florike Egmond Eric A Johnson Michele Mancino Eric H Monkkonen Eva sterberg James A Sharpe Pieter Spierenburg Jan Sundin Barbara Weinberger

Abduction, Marriage, and Consent in the Late Medieval Low Countries Channele Delameillieure, 2025-10-01 The Middle Dutch term schaec referred to abduction with marital intent This book explores this phenomenon to understand wider attitudes towards marriage making in the fifteenth century Low Countries Whilst exchanging words of consent was all that was required legally making marriage was a social process that evoked public concern and familial scrutiny Abductions embodied contrasting evaluations of what mattered when selecting a spouse and resulted in polarized trials in which narratives on consent coercion and family strategy coincided and competed Abduction Marriage and Consent draws from a wide range of legal records to assess how men women families and authorities used navigated and dealt with abductions during this period It contributes to debates on consent family involvement and women s access to justice and demonstrates that abduction should be approached as a comprehensive social phenomenon one that is crucial in the history of marriage and women s social and legal status

Advances in Old Frisian Philology Rolf H. Bremmer, Stephen Laker, Oebele Vries, 2007 Like its two predecessors Aspects of Old Frisian Philology 1990 and Approaches to Old Frisian Philology 1998 Advances in Old Frisian Philology combines contributions by specialists of medieval Frisian studies with papers by international specialists from adjacent fields who have been invited for the occasion to bring their expertise to the discipline of Old Frisian Together the diverse approaches considerably advance our knowledge of and insight into various aspects of Old Frisian philology

Community, Urban Health and Environment in the Late Medieval Low Countries Janna Coomans, 2021-08-26 By exploring the uniquely dense urban network of the Low Countries Janna Coomans debunks the myth of medieval cities as apathetic towards filth and disease Based on new archival research and adopting a bio political and spatial material approach Coomans traces how cities developed a broad range of practices to protect themselves and fight disease Urban societies negotiated challenges to their collective health in the face of social political and environmental change transforming ideas on civic duties and the common good Tasks were divided among different groups including town governments neighbours and guilds and affected a wide range of areas from water fire and food to pigs prostitutes and plague By studying these efforts in the round Coomans offers new comparative insights and bolsters our understanding of the importance of population health and the physical world infrastructures flora and fauna in governing medieval cities

Violence and Punishment Pieter Spierenburg, 2013-08-22 This innovative book tells the fascinating tale of the long histories of violence punishment and the human body and how they are all connected Taking the decline of violence and the transformation of punishment as its guiding themes the book highlights key dynamics of historical and social change and charts how a refinement and civilizing of manners and new forms of celebration and festival accompanied the decline of violence Pieter Spierenburg a leading figure in historical criminology skillfully extends his view over three continents back to the middle ages and even beyond to the Stone Age Ranging along the way from murder to etiquette from social control to popular culture from religion to death and from honor to prisons every chapter creatively uses the theories of Norbert Elias while also engaging with the work of Foucault and Durkheim The scope and rigor of the analysis will strongly interest scholars of criminology history and sociology while the accessible style and the intriguing stories on which the book builds will appeal to anyone interested in the history of violence and punishment in civilization Crime, Histoire et Sociétés,

1997/1 , Banishment in the Late Medieval Eastern Netherlands Edda Frankot, 2021-12-07 This open access book analyses the practice of banishment and what it can tell us about the values of late medieval society concerning morally acceptable behaviour It focuses on the Dutch town of Kampen and considers the exclusion of offenders through banishment and the redemption of individuals after their exile Banishment was a common punishment in late medieval Europe especially for sexual offences In Kampen it was also meted out as a consequence of the non payment of fines after which people could arrange repayment schemes which allowed them to return The book firstly considers the legal context of the practice of banishment before discussing punishment in Kampen more generally In the third chapter the legal practice of banishment as a punitive and coercive measure is discussed The final chapter focuses on the redemption of exiles either because their punishment was completed or because they arranged for the payment of outstanding fines Court and Culture F. P. van
