Hertfordshire Garden History Volume 2 Deborah Spring, 2012 This second volume of Hertfordshire garden history considers how Hertfordshire's historic parks and gardens have been influenced by and reflect the social and economic history of their time Beginning with the hunting parks and Renaissance gardens of the Bacons Cecils and Capels in the 16th and 17th centuries and their gradual replacement by designed landscapes this book shows how in Hertfordshire individuals have long sought greater space and comfort within easy reach of the capital London With examples from both well known and less visible or vanished gardens from the past 500 years it is sure to delight garden enthusiasts Hertfordshire Garden History Anne Rowe, 2007 This volume contains original research into aspects of garden history in Hertfordshire Watford: A History Mary Forsyth, 2015-10-05 This volume explores the history of Watford from the earliest times to the 1970s Set against a background of some of the major events in English history it tells the story of how a small medieval settlement became the town we see today Drawing on thirty years of research Mary Forsyth provides a fascinating insight into the changing face of the town the local characters who inspired and instigated its transformation and the national events that shaped its development through the ages Illustrated with selected images from Watford Museum and the author's own collection it will interest newcomers and local residents alike celebrating the history of this major Hertfordshire town

Hertfordshire Anne Rowe, Tom Williamson, 2013 Dividing the county of Hertfordshire into four broad regions the champion countryside in the north the Chiltern dip slope to the west the fertile boulder clays of the east and the unwelcoming London Clay in the south this volume explains how in the course of the middle ages natural characteristics influenced the development of land use and settlement to create a range of distinctive landscapes The great diversity of Hertfordshire's landscapes makes it a particularly rewarding area of study Variations in farming economies in patterns of trade and communication as well as in the extent of London's influence have all played a part during the course of the postmedieval centuries and Hertfordshire's continuing evolution is followed into the 21st century Lavishly illustrated with maps and photographs this authoritative work is invaluable reading for all those with an interest in the history archaeology and natural transformation of this fascinating county Lancelot Brown and the Capability Men David Brown, Tom Williamson, 2016-08-15 Lancelot Capability Brown is often thought of as the innovative genius who single handedly pioneered a new naturalistic style of landscape design but he was in fact only one of many landscape designers in Georgian England Published to commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of Brown's birth this book casts important new light on his world renowned work his eventful life and the wider and robust world of landscape design in Georgian England David Brown and Tom Williamson argue that Brown was one of the most successful designers of his time working in a style that was otherwise widespread and that it was his skill with this style and not his having invented it that linked his name to it The authors look closely at Brown's design business and the products he offered clients showing that his design packages helped define the era's aesthetic. They compare Brown's business to those of similar designers such as the Adam brothers, Thomas Chippendale and Josiah Wedgwood, and they contextualize Brown's work within the wider contexts of domestic planning and the rise of neoclassicism. Beautifully illustrated throughout, this book celebrates the work of a master designer who was both a product and harbinger of the modern world.

Dury and Andrews' Map of Hertfordshire Andrew Macnair, Anne Rowe, Tom Williamson, 2015-11-30. This book is about the map of an English county, Hertfordshire, which was published in 1766 by two London mapmakers, Andrew Dury and John Andrews. For well over two centuries, from the time of Elizabeth I to the late 18th century, the county was the basic unit for mapping in Britain, and the period witnessed several episodes of comprehensive map-making. The map which forms the subject of this book followed on from a large number of previous maps of the county but was greatly superior to them in terms of quality and detail. It was published in a variety of forms in nine sheets with an additional index map over a period of 60 years. No other maps of Hertfordshire were produced during the rest of the century, but the Board of Ordnance, later the Ordnance Survey, established in the 1790s, began to survey the Hertfordshire area in 1799, publishing the first maps covering the county between 1805 and 1834. The OS came to dominate map-making in Britain, but of all the maps of Hertfordshire that produced by Dury and Andrews was the first to be surveyed at a sufficiently large scale to really allow those dwelling in the county to visualize their own parish, local topography, and even their own house and its place in the wider landscape. The first section examines the context of the map's production and its place in cartographic history, and describes the creation of a new digital version of the map which can be accessed online. The second part describes various ways in which this electronic version can be interrogated in order to throw important new light on Hertfordshire's landscape and society both in the middle decades of the eighteenth century when it was produced and in more remote periods. The attached DVD contains over a dozen maps which have been derived from the digital version and which illustrate many of the issues discussed in the text, as well as related material which should likewise be useful to students of landscape history, historical geography, and local history.

Parks in Hertfordshire Since 1500 Hugh C. Prince, 2008. The cultural, political, and economic influences on the changing fortunes of Hertfordshire's great parks over the past 500 years are examined in this authoritative history. Fascinating accounts of such parks as Hatfield Moor Park and Knebworth are illustrated by revisiting each historical era and its prevailing fashions, such as the enthusiasm for deer hunting in the 16th century and the golden age of landscape gardening in the 18th century. Close analysis of each time period's cartographical sources further supports this fitting record of the county's green spaces, which ultimately outlines the ongoing decline in Hertfordshire's parklands, now divided piecemeal between golf courses, schools, and hotels sold as real estate or precariously maintained as tourist attractions.

Charles Bridgeman (c.1685-1738) Susan Haynes, 2023 An examination of the garden plans of eighteenth century landscape architect Charles Bridgeman shedding light on his artistic vision and contributions to English garden history Charles Bridgeman was a popular and highly successful landscape architect in the first part of the eighteenth century He was Royal Gardener to George I and George II designing the gardens at Kensington Palace for them and working for many of the ruling Whig elite including Sir Robert Walpole at Houghton Hall in Norfolk His landscapes were audacious and monumental but he is barely known outside the world of academic garden history most of his gardens have disappeared changed out of all recognition to chime with later tastes shaped by Lancelot Brown's vision of a more natural landscape or buried under housing developments and golf courses and there is little archaeological or written evidence of his work This book aims to redress this injustice and rescue his legacy It draws on the only significant body of evidence which survived him an extensive but wildly heterogeneous corpus of garden plans Close examination of them reveals an artistic vision heavily influenced by the late seventeenth century geometric garden but deeply rooted in the genius of the place and working methods that include a proto business model which prefigures the gentleman improvers who followed him The volume brings him from obscurity to demonstrate his skill as an artist a manipulator of space on a grand scale and a consummate practitioner a deserved member of the canon of famous and revered English landscape gardeners

Archaeology in Hertfordshire Kris

Lockyear, 2015-10-01 Celebrating the rich heritage of archaeology and of archaeological research in Hertfordshire the 15 papers collected in this work focus on various aspects of the region including the Neolithic to the post Medieval periods and include a report on the important excavations at the formative henge at Norton Several chapters focus new attention on the Iron Age and Roman periods both from a landscape perspective and through detailed studies of artefacts while a discussion of the rare early Saxon material recently excavated at Watton at Stone makes a vital contribution to the existing corpus of knowledge about this little understood period All of the papers in the volume focus on the local scene with an understanding of wider issues in each period and as a result the papers are of importance beyond the boundaries of the county and will be of interest to scholars with wide ranging interests

Victorian Visions of Suburban Utopia Nathaniel Robert

Walker, 2020-11-17 The rise of suburbs and disinvestment from cities have been defining features of life in many countries over the course of the twentieth century In Victorian Visions of Suburban Utopia Nathaniel Walker asks why did we abandon our dense complex urban places and seek to find the best of the city and the country in the flowery suburbs While looking back at the architecture and urban design of the 1800s offers some answers Walker argues that a great missing piece of the story can be found in Victorian utopian literature The replacement of cities with high tech suburbs was repeatedly imagined and breathlessly described in the socialist dreams and science fiction fantasies of dozens of British and American authors Some of these visionaries such as Robert Owen Edward Bulwer Lytton Edward Bellamy William Morris Ebenezer Howard and H G Wells are enduringly famous while others were street vendors or amateur chemists who have been all but forgotten

Together they fashioned strange and beautiful imaginary worlds built of synthetic gemstones lacy metal colonnades and unbreakable glass staffed by robotic servants and teeming with flying carriages As varied as their futuristic visions could be Walker reveals how most of them were unified by a single desperate plea for humanity to have a future worth living we must abandon our smoky poor chaotic Babylonian cities for a life in shimmering gardens Humphry Repton Tom

Williamson,2020-09-17 Humphry Repton 1752 1818 remains one of England s most interesting and prolific garden and landscape designers Renowned for his innovative design proposals and distinctive before and after images captured in his famous Red Books Repton s astonishing career represents the link between the simple parklands of his predecessor Capability Brown and the more elaborate structured and formal landscapes of the Victorian age This lavishly illustrated book based on a wealth of new research reinterprets Repton s life working methods and designs and examines why they proved so popular in a rapidly changing world The East India Company at Home, 1757-1857 Margot Finn,Kate Smith,2018-02-15

The East India Company at Home 1757 1857 explores how empire in Asia shaped British country houses their interiors and the lives of their residents It includes chapters from researchers based in a wide range of settings such as archives and libraries museums heritage organisations the community of family historians and universities It moves beyond conventional academic narratives and makes an important contribution to ongoing debates around how empire impacted Britain The volume focuses on the propertied families of the East India Company at the height of Company rule From the Battle of Plassey in 1757 to the outbreak of the Indian Uprising in 1857 objects people and wealth flowed to Britain from Asia As men in Company service increasingly shifted their activities from trade to military expansion and political administration a new population of civil servants army officers surveyors and surgeons journeyed to India to make their fortunes These Company men and their families acquired wealth tastes and identities in India which travelled home with them to Britain Their stories the biographies of their Indian possessions and the narratives of the stately homes in Britain that came to house them frame our explorations of imperial culture and its British legacies The Correspondence of Charles Darwin: Volume 25, 1877

Charles Darwin,2017-10-12 This volume is part of the definitive edition of letters written by and to Charles Darwin the most celebrated naturalist of the nineteenth century Notes and appendixes put these fascinating and wide ranging letters in context making the letters accessible to both scholars and general readers Darwin depended on correspondence to collect data from all over the world and to discuss his emerging ideas with scientific colleagues many of whom he never met in person The letters are published chronologically volume 25 includes letters from 1877 the year in which Darwin published Forms of Flowers and with his son Francis carried out experiments on plant movement and bloom on plants Darwin was awarded an honorary LL D by Cambridge University and appeared in person to receive it The volume contains a number of appendixes including two on the albums of photograph sent to Darwin by his Dutch German and Austrian admirers

Regions and Designed Landscapes in Georgian England Sarah Spooner,2015-06-26 Garden design evolved hugely during the Georgian period as symbols of wealth and stature the landed aristocracy had been using gardens for decades Yet during the eighteenth century society began to homogenise and the urban elite also started demanding landscapes that would reflect their positions The gardens of the aristocracy and the gentry were different in appearance use and meaning despite broad similarities in form Underlying this was the importance of place of the landscape itself and its raw material Contemporaries often referred to the need to consult the genius of the place when creating a new designed landscape as the place where the garden was located was critical in determining its appearance Genius loci soil type topography water supply all influenced landscape design in this period The approach taken in this book blends landscape and garden history to make new insights into landscape and design in the eighteenth century Spooner s own research presents little known sites alongside those which are more well known and explores the complexity of the story of landscape design in the Georgian period which is usually oversimplified and reduced to the story of a few great men

The Planting Design Handbook
,2017-07-05 Since the first edition was published in 1992 Nick Robinson s The Planting Design Handbook has been widely used as a definitive text on landscape architecture courses throughout the world It examines the horticultural ecological and aesthetic characteristics of plants discusses the structural and decorative roles of planting spatial composition species selection planting plans and spacing and the vital role of management With its fresh look at aesthetic principles and its analysis of the design process it reveals how a systematic approach can allow the greatest freedom for the creative imagination This revised second edition still provides a complete examination of both the principles and the practice of design with plants for public institutional and private landscapes taking account of developments in professional practice and reflecting a variety of media and approaches currently used It incorporates conceptual design approaches to planting a range of design methods as well as tried and tested analytical and objective procedures and a wide range of new international examples of planting design The ecological basis for planting design has been broadened to include examples from warm temperate and subtropical vegetation types as well as those of the cool temperate and Mediterranean climate area The layout of the book is clear and spacious with colour illustrations While retaining the beautiful and detailed line drawings of the Chinese architect and painter Jia Hua Wu it includes an international range of new photographs and professional drawings updated since the second edition These illustrate a range of media now effective and useful in professional practices of various sizes

Hertfordshire Archaeology ,2004

Sacred Landscapes in Antiquity Ralph Haussler,Gian Franco Chiaia,2020-07-31 From generation to generation people experience their landscapes differently Humans depend on their natural environment it shapes their behavior while it is often felt that deities responsible for both natural benefits and natural calamities such as droughts famines floods and landslides need to be appeased We presume that in many societies lakes rivers rocks mountains caves and groves were considered sacred Individual sites and entire landscapes are often associated with divine actions mythical heroes and etiological myths Throughout human history people have also felt the need to monumentalize their sacred landscape But this is where the similarities end as different societies had very different understandings believes and practices The aim of this new thematic appraisal is to scrutinize carefully our evidence and rethink our methodologies in a multi disciplinary approach More than 30 papers investigate diverse sacred landscapes from the Iberian peninsula and Britain in the west to China in the east They discuss how to interpret the intricate web of ciphers and symbols in the landscape and how people might have experienced it We see the role of performance ritual orality textuality and memory in people s sacred landscapes A diachronic view allows us to study how landscapes were rewritten adapted and redefined in the course of time to suit new cultural political and religious understandings not to mention the impact of urbanism on people s understandings A key question is how was the landscape manipulated transformed and monumentalized especially the colossal investments in monumental architecture we see in certain socio historic contexts or the creation of an alternative humanmade seemingly non natural landscape with perfectly astronomically aligned buildings that define a cosmological order Sacred Landscapes therefore aims to analyze the complex links between landscape religiosity and society developing a dialectic framework that explores sacred landscapes across the ancient world in a dynamic holistic contextual and historical perspective
