Historical Materialism and Globalisation Mark Rupert, Hazel Smith, 2016-04-29 Now that Soviet style socialism has collapsed upon itself and liberal capitalism offers itself as the natural necessary and absolute condition of human social life on a worldwide scale this book insists that the potentially emancipatory resources of a renewed and perhaps reconstructed historical materialism are more relevant in today's world than ever before Rather than viewing global capitalism as an eluctable natural force these essays seek to show how a dialectic of power and resistance is at work in the contemporary global political economy producing and contesting new realities and creating conditions in which new forms of collective self determination become thinkable and materially possible It will be vital topical reading for anyone interested in international relations international political economy sociology and political theory Transnational Classes and International Relations Kees Van der Pijl, 2005-08-10 An exciting and original analysis of the development of capitalist classes such as the Freemasons that cross national boundaries in the global political economy This innovative book focuses on an historical perspective on class formation under capitalism and its transnational integration international relations between the English speaking centre of capital and successive contender states The author develops a broad ranging and thorough understanding of class in the process of globalization He does so within several theoretical frameworks shedding much light on this important topic Global Governance Timothy J.
