Going Public An Organizers Guide To Citizen Action:

Going Public Michael Gecan, 2012-06-12 A New York city neighborhood once called the beginning of the end of civilization is where Michael Gecan starts. Hired by residents to help them save their community, he and local leaders spend more than a decade wrestling New York politicians in an impassioned effort against all odds that brings in five thousand new homes. From bad behavior by Ed Koch to complicated negotiations with Rudy Giuliani, Gecan tells the inside story of how the city really works and how any organized group of citizens can wield power in seemingly unmovable bureaucracies. Gecan's unwavering vision of the value of public action has roots in a rough childhood in Chicago where he witnessed extortion by the mob and a tragic fire in his Catholic grade school that left ninety-two children and three nuns dead. In his inspiring story of the will to claim the full benefits of citizenship, Gecan offers unforgettable lessons that every American should know. What is the best way to talk to politicians? What resources do all communities need to create change? What kinds of public actions really work? GOING PUBLIC MICHAEL. GECAN, 2004

The Citizen's Guide to Lobbying Congress (Rev and Updated Ed) Donald E. deKieffer, 2007-09 Individuals and grassroots organizations interested in becoming involved in petitioning their government will discover essential information on the techniques and laws to lobbying in this clear and enlightening guide. New lobbyists will learn how to best craft and direct their messages so that their concerns will be heard, make congressional contacts, get the most out of letter writing campaigns, generate press, give campaign contributions, and even get invited to testify before congressional committees. This resource details the most recent lobbying laws, including the Federal Election Campaign Act amended in 2002, as well as a list of appropriate gifts to give to a member of Congress or their staff. This revised edition contains updated chapters and resources that will ensure that neophyte lobbyists will have the most up-to-date information when lobbying their government. The Bush Still Burns Terry Allen Moe, 2021-03-23 Terry Allen Moe came as pastor to Redeemer Lutheran, a traditional working class congregation in a poorer mixed race neighborhood in Portland, Oregon, in 1981. Five US presidents, six Portland mayors, and four Lutheran bishops later, Redeemer had been transformed into an innovative spiritual, not religious, member-based nonprofit called Leaven Community, and a new ELCA congregation, Salt and Light Lutheran, nested in the midst of Leaven. This is the story of how an intertwining of spirituality and organizing transformed a pastor and congregation. Using the metaphor of paying attention to the voice of God in the burning bush, Exodus 3, Moe describes how he and the congregation turned to the burning bush of deepened spirituality coupled with hard-nosed organizing embodied in the IAF network. The process was not easy or smooth, but the pastor and people changed, and together they impacted the larger Portland community. This is the story of listening, discerning, acting, and evaluating to address the upstream causes of pressing issues and of identifying and lifting up the public dimensions of people's pain. This is the story of prayer circles that addressed societal challenges contributing to people's private struggles. This is the story of unearthing and confronting the impacts of political decisions, overcoming the mentality that church and politics don't mix Sunday worship shifted to include the stories of addiction job loss rising energy costs and ecological grieving from the members and their neighbors This book demonstrates how the power of spiritual discernment and community organizing can transform a community of faith It's timely inspiration for congregations struggling to find their way out of decline and the immobilization caused by fear and lack of creative leadership

Hope for Justice and Power Kathleen Staudt, 2020-03-15 Texas based affiliates in the Industrial Areas Foundation IAF built on ideas principles and actions from the late Saul Alinsky offer a strong mature organizing model compared with other community organizations in the state and the United States as a whole IAF affiliates members consist of institutions most of them faith based congregations and synagogues Local volunteer leaders in those institutions work together in relationships of trust that draw strength unity and purpose from IAF principles and the social justice precepts of their different faiths In Hope for Justice and Power Kathleen Staudt examines the twenty first century activities of the Texas IAF in multiple cities and towns around the state drawing on forty years of academic teaching and on twenty years of active leadership experiences in the IAF She identifies major contradictions tensions and their resolutions in IAF organizing related to centralism versus local control reformist versus radical goals stable revenue generation greater gender balance in leadership and evolving IAF principles The political context in modern Texas is a challenging one compared to the Texas IAF founding period in the last quarter of the twentieth century yet local IAF volunteer leaders achieve their goals with a strong political base in divergent urban regions around the state With declining religious affiliation in U S society the Texas IAF has begun to recruit members from broad based institutions such as schools and health clinics The hope and winnable goals that sustain IAF organizing show the importance of organized power trained volunteer leaders and relationships with public officials in between elections With cross class alliances IAF affiliates work to foster equitable change toward a more just society To analyze the Texas IAF Staudt draws on participant observation in El Paso statewide meetings and training on interviews and on archival documents and media coverage This book will appeal to those interested in community based organizing and leadership Mexican American and women's politics civic capacity building in education political socialization and both Texas and urban politics

People, Power, Change Marshall Ganz, 2024 Ganz one of the world's leading authorities on democratic organizing distills for students practitioners and activists the principles he has gleaned over the last half century of creating collective action He explores the forces craft and learned skill of organizing and provides an actionable framework for how to actually do it

Handbook of Leadership Theory and Practice Nitin Nohria, Rakesh Khurana, 2010-01-26 The Handbook of Leadership Theory and Practice seeks to bridge this disconnect Based on the Harvard Business School Centennial Colloquium Leadership: Advancing an Intellectual Discipline and edited by Harvard Business School professors Nitin Nohria and Rakesh Khurana this volume brings together the most important scholars from fields as diverse as psychology sociology economics and history to take stock of what we know about leadership and to set an agenda for future research

Animating freedom: Accompanying Indigenous struggles for self-determination Jason MacLeod, 2019 In the 2019 Backhouse Lecture Jason MacLeod shares what he has learnt about accompanying West Papuans and to a lesser extent Aboriginal people Bougainvilleans and East Timorese in their struggle for self determination Through personal stories he tries to make sense of this experience in ways that might speak more broadly to Quakers His lecture is a deeply personal reflection on what one person thinks it takes to animate freedom and accompany Indigenous peoples on a journey from empire to the good life

Critical Pedagogy for Social Justice John Smyth, 2011-10-20 We live in a time when those who wield unrestrained power believe they have the inalienable right to determine the destiny nature and shape of social institutions like schools Critical Pedagogy for Social Justice challenges this arrogance by showing how teachers students parents communities and researchers can develop narratives that amount to working with and for those who are increasingly being silenced marginalized and excluded John Smyth sets out to revisit critical pedagogy from a number of key leverage points The overarching aim of this book is to unmask the deforming and distorting way power operates while at the same time revealing how a commitment to a more socially just world can exist in the everyday lives and narratives of people who have a passion for transformative possibilities His clear concise and persuasive book is ideal for those who are dissatisfied with the current turn in education and who are seeking an alternative set of views that emerge from the grounded experiences and practices in schools struggling with the most disadvantaged circumstances

Building a People of Power Robert C. Linthicum, 2015-09-15 Jesus never intended the church to become an institution he intended it to be a people of power transforming the world Power is the capacity ability and the willingness to act Most people and systems use power to dominate and control but others have used it relationally to liberate transform and even save Built around a biblical exploration of shalom Building a People of Power explains how local churches can use power to transform their communities and their cities Detailed power strategies are presented enabling churches to build productive relationships to address the primary issues of people they serve and to develop strong leaders faithful organizations and redeemed neighborhoods that live out shalom

Activist and Socially Critical School and Community Renewal John Smyth, Lawrence Angus, Barry Down, Peter McInerney, 2019-02-11 Activist and Socially Critical School and Community Renewal comes about at an incredibly important point in history and it offers a genuinely new paradigm This book attempts what few others have tried to bring together knowledge and literature around school reform and community renewal through authentic ethnographic stories of real schools and communities The book describes and analyzes a courageous struggle for a more socially just world around notions of relational solidarity that speak back to ideas that continue to privilege the already advantaged This book provides some desperately needed new storylines as a basis for school and community renewal for the most excluded groups in society It provides a new social imagination for doing school in contexts that stand to benefit from school and community voiced approaches

Manifesto for New Social Movements César Augusto Rossatto, 2019-10-01 The world is currently

witnessing the emergence of a new context for education labor and transformative social movements Global flows of people capital and energy increasingly define the world we live in The multinational corporation with its pursuit of ever cheaper sources of labor and materials and its disregard for human life is the dominant form of economic organization where capital can cross borders but people can't Affirmative action democracy and human rights are moving in from the margins to challenge capitalist priorities of efficiency i.e. exploitation In some places the representatives of popular movements are actually taking the reins of state power Across the globe new progressive movements are emerging to bridge national identities and boundaries in solidarity with transnational class gender and ethnic struggles At this juncture educators have a key role to play The ideology of market competition has become more entrenched in schools even as opportunities for skilled employment diminish We must rethink the relationship between schooling and labor developing transnational pedagogies that draw upon the myriad social struggles shaping students' lives and communities Critical educators need to connect with other social movements to put a radically democratic agenda based on the principles of equity access and emancipation at the center of educational praxis Many countries in Latin America like in other continents are developing new alternatives for the reconstruction of social projects these emerging sources of hope are the central focus of this book Major historical change always starts with people's social movement Democracy can be one of the best political and social systems in the world but for it to work entails the sustainable participation of citizens Above all it requires that people be informed and critically educated since the quality of democracy depends on quality of education There are 2 kinds of power money and people If people exercise their agency they can be more powerful than money There are some organizing principles of social movements as don't do for others what they should do for themselves Saul Alinsky wrote Rules for Radicals A pragmatic primer for realistic radicals Mary Rogers Cold Anger A story of faith and power politics Michael Gecan Going Public An organizer's guide to citizen action and Ernesto Cortez's Industrial Area Foundation are all great sources for organized activism that do work I put some of these principles to the test and they produced positive results I was a founder and president of a union at my university and I lived my whole life as an activist and learned that we can do more together than alone Now we also have a new digital war with the Cambridge Analytica and Breitbart's fake news manipulation however we also have social justice hacktivism to counter act it as well as other democratic social media venues that critical thinkers and activist use The chapters in this book demonstrate the importance of widening and diversifying social movements at the same time emphasizes the need to build cohesive alliances among all the different fronts What some people think is impossible can become a transformed reality for those who dare attempt changing the world as global citizens

Mapping Populism Amit Ron, Majia Nadesan, 2020-03-05 This collection which can serve as an introduction to the field of populism provides an array of interdisciplinary approaches to populist mobilizations theories meanings and effects In so doing it rejects essentialized ideas regarding what populism is or is not Rather it explores the political social and economic conditions that are conducive for the emergence of movements labelled populist the rationalities and affective tenor of those movements the political issues pertaining to the relationship between populists and elites and the relationship between populist groups and political pluralism Grappling with accord and discord in assumptions and methodologies the book will appeal to scholars of sociology political science communication and cultural studies interested in populism social movements citizenship and democracy

The New Localism Bruce Katz, Jeremy Nowak, 2018-01-09 The New Localism provides a roadmap for change that starts in the communities where most people live and work In their new book The New Localism urban experts Bruce Katz and Jeremy Nowak reveal where the real power to create change lies and how it can be used to address our most serious social economic and environmental challenges Power is shifting in the world downward from national governments and states to cities and metropolitan communities horizontally from the public sector to networks of public private and civic actors and globally along circuits of capital trade and innovation This new locus of power this new localism is emerging by necessity to solve the grand challenges characteristic of modern societies economic competitiveness social inclusion and opportunity a renewed public life the challenge of diversity and the imperative of environmental sustainability Where rising populism on the right and the left exploits the grievances of those left behind in the global economy new localism has developed as a mechanism to address them head on New localism is not a replacement for the vital roles federal governments play it is the ideal complement to an effective federal government and currently an urgently needed remedy for national dysfunction In The New Localism Katz and Nowak tell the stories of the cities that are on the vanguard of problem solving Pittsburgh is catalyzing inclusive growth by inventing and deploying new industries and technologies Indianapolis is governing its city and metropolis through a network of public private and civic leaders Copenhagen is using publicly owned assets like their waterfront to spur large scale redevelopment and finance infrastructure from land sales Out of these stories emerge new norms of growth governance and finance and a path toward a more prosperous sustainable and inclusive society Katz and Nowak imagine a world in which urban institutions finance the future through smart investments in innovation infrastructure and children and urban intermediaries take solutions created in one city and adapt and tailor them to other cities with speed and precision As Katz and Nowak show us in The New Localism Power now belongs to the problem solvers

Power in Coalition Amanda Tattersall, 2013-01-14 The labor movement sees coalitions as a key tool for union revitalization and social change but there is little analysis of what makes them successful or the factors that make them fail Amanda Tattersall an organizer and labor scholar addresses this gap in the first internationally comparative study of coalitions between unions and community organizations She argues that coalition success must be measured by two criteria whether campaigns produce social change and whether they sustain organizational strength over time The book contributes new practical frameworks and insights that will help guide union and community organizers across the globe The book throws down the gauntlet to industrial relations scholars and labor organizers making a compelling case for unions to build coalitions that wield power with community organizations Tattersall presents three detailed case studies the public education coalition in Sydney the Ontario Health Coalition in Toronto and the living wage campaign run by the Grassroots Collaborative in Chicago Together they enable Tattersall to explore when and how coalition unionism is the best and most appropriate strategy for social change organizational development and union renewal Power in Coalition presents clear lessons She suggests that less is more because it is often easier to build stronger coalitions with fewer organizations making decisions and sharing resources The role of the individual she finds is traditionally underestimated even though a coalition's success depends on a leader's ability to broker relationships between organizations while developing the campaign's strategy The crafting of goals that combine organizational interest and the public interest and take into account electoral politics are crucial elements of coalition success
