

ACCOUNTING 1

Accounting Basics

Accounting Standards

- Accounting principles have been in existence since the late 1400s when Giovanni Lami (Florence) set forth rudimentary, but formalized, rules.
- Modern-day accounting principles in the United States are collectively accepted accounting principles (GAAP). These principles guide the work of accountants and auditors.
- The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has regulatory authority over accounting principles used by public corporations.
 - The SEC is a federal agency responsible for enforcing the federal securities laws and regulating the securities industry.
 - It is responsible for the development of GAAP in the accounting profession via the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB).
- The FASB develops new standards via due process activities that allow input from various stakeholders and accountants in the industry.
- The International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) develops global accounting standards.
 - Multi-national companies follow IASB standards.
 - The IASB works with other key global accounting standards bodies to create a single source of accounting standards.
- The Government Accounting Standards Board (GASB) sets state and local government standards for accounting.
 - The GASB is a private, non-governmental organization subject to oversight and funding by the Department of Education (DOE).
 - The federal government follows standards set by the GASB when performing accounting for its state.

Concepts & Principles

- Entity concept
 - An enterprise must stand apart from other organizations as a separate economic unit.
 - Assets and obligations must be accounted for separately from the personal assets and obligations of its owner.
- Going concern concept (i.e., continuity assumption) The entity will continue to exist long enough to meet its contractual obligations and carry out plans.
 - Businesses should report information on regular intervals.
 - Annual reports show income for the last 12 months and end on the last day of the fiscal year. Therefore, annual reports show the financial position as of the last day of the fiscal year.
 - Public companies report financial information quarterly (3-month time intervals).
- Reliability principle
 - Accounting records must be based on the most reliable data available.
 - Reliable measurements in amounts, objectives, methods, and verifiability.
- Relevance principle
 - Accounting information must be timely.
 - Accounting information in production provides feedback and helps decision making.
- Cost principle Assets and services acquired are recorded at actual historical cost unless their market value.
- Conservatism
 - Loss must be recognized to avoid overvaluing assets and overstate and understate expenses and liabilities.
 - Accounting estimates should be based on conservative assumptions.
- Revenue principle
 - Revenue should only be recorded when earned.
 - Revenue is earned when the business has completed rendering services to the customer.
 - The amount to record is equal to the cash value of services or goods.
 - The collection of cash must be reasonably assured or credit sales.
- Matching principle
 - Expenses must be matched against revenues in the same accounting period.
 - Costs incurred in previous periods in a period are recognized as expenses.
- The accounting period
 - The accounting period is the period connecting the business activities.
 - It is usually 1 year ending on Dec. 31 (called the fiscal year in the calendar year).
 - Other fiscal year ends will use any other date of the year elected by management.
- Full-cost accounting
 - The impact of costs is not recognized until cash is paid or received.
 - Revenue is recorded when cash is received; expenses are recorded when cash is paid.
 - This method is adequate for small companies that don't report to external parties, but it is not acceptable under GAAP.
- Accrual-basis accounting
 - The impact of costs is recognized as they occur.
 - Revenue is recorded when earned; expenses are recorded when incurred.
 - Transactions are recorded when cash has not been received or paid.
 - This method is required by GAAP.

The Accounting Equation

Assets = Liabilities + Owners' Equity

Assets

- Assets are economic resources expected to benefit the company in the future; they would have their fair market value.
 - It could be tangible or intangible.
 - Assets are identifiable and in physical form; they would have their fair market value.
 - Assets are measurable. Fair market value is a request made usually with payment information such as price period and payment rate.
 - Secondary - Measurement the value based on transactions in cash.
 - Depreciable - Assets include the secondary meaning of the business; examples include office and customer relations.
 - Impaired assets - Impairment is the gradual and lasting loss to the value of an asset. Examples are business assets and assets in operation.
 - Intangible - Assets include non-physical assets such as patents, trademarks, and goodwill.
 - Assets are listed on the balance sheet in order of liquidity.
 - Assets are listed according to current value less their value.
- Liabilities Economic obligations or debts payable to others resulting from past transactions.
 - Accounts payable - Cash or implied promise to pay debts that arise from credit purchases.
 - Notes payable - Amounts the company must pay as a result of signing a promissory note for goods or services.
 - Bank payable - Money and interest payable.
 - Capitalized expenses - Money received for services not yet fulfilled or products not yet delivered; examples include work received for utility bills. Rights not yet earned, such as employee's compensation and cash dividends, are also capitalized.
- Owner's equity A claim by owners, the difference between assets and liabilities, divided into two main categories.
 - Contributed or paid-in capital Amounts received in the corporation by its owners.
 - It can include the value of common stock, preferred stock, and other equity.
 - It includes capital in excess of par. The total amount of capital issued is a sum of stock less the par value of that stock.
 - It is the excess of the value of stock sold for higher than paid-in capital is known as a premium.
 - Retained earnings Income earned from operations.
 - It represents income in retained earnings resulting from operations.
 - It represents the amount of income in operations, less the amount of retained earnings.
 - It is the difference between Retained Earnings - The Income tax - The Sales Dividends.

Financial Statements: Formal Reports of an Entity

Balance Sheet (Statement of Financial Position)

- Assets are balanced with the sum of liabilities and owners' equity as of a specific date.
- Prepared after the income statement and the statement of retained earnings.
- Current assets
 - It is cash and other resources expected to be cash, sold, or used up during the current operating cycle of the business (usually 1 year).
 - Current current assets: Cash, receivables, inventories, prepayments, supplies, and prepaid expenses.
- Noncurrent assets
 - Assets that are not current assets.
 - Current noncurrent assets: Buildings, equipment, furniture, fixtures, leasehold improvements, and intangible assets (patents and goodwill).
- Current liabilities
 - Liabilities that will be paid within the operating cycle (usually 1 year).
 - Typical current liabilities: Accounts payable, money and interest payable, notes payable, current maturities, and short-term notes payable.
- Noncurrent liabilities
 - Liabilities that are not current liabilities.
 - Typical noncurrent liabilities: The noncurrent portion of payables liabilities, capital leases, pension benefit obligations, and long-term obligations under product or service warranties.
- Equity
 - The difference between assets and liabilities.
 - Typical equity: Capital contributed by owners and retained earnings.
