Kidsgo London Tell Your Parents Where To Go:

London Mio Debram, 2011 The kidsGo series is an exciting new range of children's travel pocket guides. They aim to empower kids to have a say in their vacation planning to get them thinking about their destination and to enable them to make great suggestions and tell their parents where to go. The first six guides cover New York London Hong Kong Bali Sydney and Phuket. Concise and to the point, they offer just the right amount of information to help a vacationing family make the most of a typical week-long trip. Once they arrive, not a day will be wasted. Also listed are fast facts, basic foreign phrases, do's and don'ts, things to spot, plus weird and wonderful factoids. Useful area maps put the main landmarks in context so that the family can plan its day. The listings in the series are all recommended by well-traveled families. Geared for 7 to 14-year-olds, the recommendations will satisfy all age groups, whether they are active toddlers, trendy tweens, choosy teens, or parents who need a breather. Gorgeously illustrated, these guides are collectible souvenirs that the kids will save long after they come home.

Strategies for Tourism Industry Murat Kasimoglu, 2012-04-20 Today it is considered good business practice for tourism industries to support their micro and macro environment by means of strategic perspectives. This is necessary because we cannot contemplate companies existing without their environment. If companies do not involve themselves in such undertakings, they are in danger of isolating themselves from the shareholder. That in turn creates a problem for mobilizing new ideas and receiving feedback from their environment. In this respect, the contributions of academics from international level together with the private sector and business managers are eagerly awaited on topics and sub-topics within Strategies for Tourism Industry: Micro and Macro Perspectives.
