Taylor, Thomas A. Carlson, Mary-Jane Rubenstein, 2021-09-20 The three essays in Image written by leading philosophers of religion explore the modern power of the visual at the intersection of the human and the technological Modern life is steeped in images image making and attempts to control the world through vision Mastery of images has been advanced by technologies that expand and reshape vision and enable us to create store transmit and display images The three essays in Image written by leading philosophers of religion Mark C Taylor Mary Jane Rubenstein and Thomas A Carlson explore the power of the visual at the intersection of the human and the technological Building on Heidegger s notion that modern humanity aims to master the world by picturing or representing the real they investigate the contemporary culture of the image in its philosophical religious economic political imperial and military dimensions challenging the abstraction anonymity and dangerous disconnection of contemporary images Taylor traces a history of capitalism focusing on its lack of humility particularly in the face of mortality and he considers art as a possible way to reconnect us to the earth Through a genealogy of iconic views from space Rubenstein exposes the delusions of conquest associated with extraterrestrial travel Starting with the pressing issues of surveillance capitalism and facial recognition technology Carlson extends Heidegger s analysis through a meditation on the telematic elimination of the individual brought about by totalizing technologies Together these essays call for a consideration of how we can act responsibly toward the past in a way that preserves the earth for future generations Attending to the fragility of material things and to our own mortality they propose new practices of imagination grounded in love and humility Abiding Grace Mark C. Taylor, 2018-10-02 Post war post industrialism post religion post truth post biological post human post modern What succeeds the post age Mark C Taylor returns here to some of his central philosophical preoccupations and asks What comes after the end Abiding Grace navigates the competing Hegelian and Kierkegaardian trajectories born out of the Reformation and finds Taylor arguing from spaces in between showing how both narratives have shaped recent philosophy and culture For Hegel Luther's internalization of faith anticipated the modern principle of autonomy which reached its fullest expression in speculative philosophy The closure of the Hegelian system still endures in the twenty first century in consumer society financial capitalism and virtual culture For Kierkegaard by contrast Luther's God remains radically transcendent while finite human beings and their world remain fully dependent From this insight Heidegger and Derrida developed an alternative view of time in which a radically open future breaks into the present to transform the past demonstrating that far from autonomous life is a gift from an Other that can never be known Offering an alternative genealogy of deconstruction that traces its pedigree back to readings of Paul by way of Luther Abiding Grace presents a thoroughgoing critique of modernity and postmodernity's will to power and mastery In this new philosophical and theological vision history is not over and the future remains endlessly open
