Catsambis, Ben Ford, Donny L. Hamilton, 2014-02 This title is a comprehensive survey of maritime archaeology as seen through the eyes of nearly fifty scholars at a time when maritime archaeology has established itself as a mature branch of archaeology      Maritime Archaeology, 2003 Jeremy Green's systematic overview of maritime archaeology offers a step by step description of this fast growing field With new information about the use of computers and global positioning systems the second edition of this handbook shows how to extract as much information as possible from a site how to record and document the data and how to act ethically and responsibly with the artifacts Treating underwater archaeology as a discipline the book demonstrates how archaeologists looters academics and governments interact and how the market for archaeological artifacts creates obstacles and opportunities for these groups Well illustrated and comprehensive in its approach to the subject this book provides an essential foundation for everybody interested in underwater environments submerged land structures and conditions created by sea level changes It covers five broad areas searching for sites recording sites excavation management of collections and study research and publication It describes a variety of techniques and procedures in considerable detail accessible to both professional and amateur archaeologists More than 250 photographs charts and diagrams explain everything from how to operate a sextant and a hand held GPS to how a swim line should be laid out by the dive team before excavation begins      Our Blue Planet: An Introduction to Maritime and

comprehensive introduction to the field of maritime and underwater archaeology Situating the field within the broader study of history and archaeology this book advocates that an understanding of how our ancestors interacted with rivers lakes and oceans is integral to comprehending the human past Our Blue Planet covers the full breadth of maritime and underwater archaeology including formerly terrestrial sites drowned by rising sea levels coastal sites and a wide variety of wreck sites ranging across the globe and spanning from antiquity to World War II Beginning with a definition of the field and several chapters dedicated to the methods of finding recording and interpreting submerged sites Our Blue Planet provides an entry point for all readers whether or not they are familiar with maritime and underwater archaeology or archaeology in general The book then shifts to a thematic approach with chapters exploring human interactions with the watery world both along the coasts and by ship These chapters discuss the relationships between culture technology and environment that allowed humans through time to spread across the globe Because ships were the primary means for humans to interact with large bodies of water they are the focus of several chapters on the development of shipbuilding technology the lives of sailors and the uses of ships in exploration expansion and warfare The book ends with chapters on how and why the non renewable submerged archaeological record should be managed so that both current and future generations can learn from the achievements and failures of past societies as well as on how anyone can become involved in maritime and underwater archaeology Throughout the reader benefits from the personal reflections of a number of leading figures in the field

Underwater Archaeology Nautical Archaeology Society (NAS),2011-09-07 Underwater Archaeology The NAS Guide to Principles and Practice provides a comprehensive summary of the archaeological process as applied in an underwater context Long awaited second edition of what is popularly referred to as the NAS Handbook Provides a practical guide to underwater archaeology how to get involved basic principles essential techniques project planning and execution publishing and presenting Fully illustrated with over 100 drawings and new colour graphics New chapters on geophysics historical research photography and video monitoring and maintenance and conservation Iron and Steamship Archaeology Mike McCarthy,2000 In the early 1980s the author was asked to investigate the newly discovered wreck of the Xantho an iron screw steamship active off the Australian coast during the period 1848 to 1872 and to develop a strategy to stop the looting that was occurring at the site This relatively straightforward assignment turned into a long term research program for applying maritime archaeology to the conservation of iron hulled wrecks Iron and Steamship Archaeology Michael McCarthy,2005-12-08 In the early 1980s the author was asked to investigate the newly discovered wreck of the Xantho an iron screw steamship active off the Australian coast during the period 1848 to 1872 and to develop a strategy to stop the looting that was occurring at the site This relatively straightforward assignment turned into a long term research program for applying maritime archaeology to the conservation of iron hulled wrecks Manual of Forensic Taphonomy James Pokines,Steven A. Symes,2013-10-08 Forensic taphonomy is the study of the postmortem changes to human remains focusing largely on environmental effects including decomposition in soil and water and interaction with plants insects and other animals While other books have focused on subsets such as forensic botany and entomology Manual of Forensic Taphonomy is the first update of Manual de Formación de la UNESCO para la Protección del Patrimonio Cultural Subacuático en América Latina y el Caribe Netherlands. Who Rules the Waves? Denise Russell, 2010-03-03 Piracy international disputes over undersea oil and gas and chronic overfishing have left our oceans in turmoil How can we resolve these issues International law states that a coastal country has territorial rights for 12 miles into the sea yet in practice many countries have virtually no control over their own waters Denise Russell provides a thorough examination of the politics of the sea from environmental issues to water economics and governance of the waters She reveals how we need to radically rethink ocean governance calling for the establishment of an international agency powerful enough to settle disputes at sea or else risk ever accelerating climate change and the continued overuse of the sea's resources

The Routledge Companion to Marine and Maritime Worlds 1400-1800 Claire Jowitt, Craig Lambert, Steve Mentz, 2020-05-21 This book has been nominated for The Mountbatten Award for Best Book in the Maritime Media Awards 2021 The Routledge Companion to Marine and Maritime Worlds 1400 1800 explores early modern maritime history culture and the current state of the research and approaches taken by experts in the field Ranging from cartography to poetry and decorative design to naval warfare the book shows how once traditional and often Euro chauvinistic depictions of oceanic mastery during the early modern period have been replaced by newer global ideas This comprehensive volume challenges underlying assumptions by balancing its assessment of the consequences and accomplishments of European navigators in the era of Columbus da Gama and Magellan with an awareness of the sophistication and maritime expertise in Asia the Arab world and the Americas By imparting riveting new stories and global perceptions of maritime history and culture the contributors provide readers with fresh insights concerning early modern entanglements between humans and the vast unpredictable ocean With maritime studies growing and the ocean's health in decline this volume is essential reading for academics and students interested in the historicization of the ocean and the ways early modern cultures both conceptualized and utilized seas

Out of the Depths Alan G. Jamieson, 2024-08-12 A highly illustrated voyage through shipwrecks ancient and contemporary Out of the Depths explores all aspects of shipwrecks across four thousand years examining their historical context and significance showing how shipwrecks can be time capsules and shedding new light on long departed societies and civilizations Alan G Jamieson not only informs readers of the technological developments over the last sixty years that have made the true appreciation of shipwrecks possible but he also covers shipwrecks in culture and maritime archaeology their appeal to treasure hunters and their environmental impacts Although shipwrecks have become less common in recent decades their implications have become more wide ranging since the 1960s foundering supertankers have caused massive environmental disasters and in 2021 the blocking of the Suez Canal by the giant container ship Ever Given had a serious effect on global trade

Submerged Prehistory in the Americas John M. O'Shea, 2023-05-08 This book presents an overview of the exciting new developments in underwater research in North America ranging from new approaches for discovering submerged sites to an assessment of how these findings challenge the understanding of the North American past Archaeological sites preserved on the world's continental shelves are relevant to a wide range of major research questions and their importance increases with the heightened awareness of climate change and rising modern sea levels Once thought lost forever these sites survive underwater preserved from the ravages of modern farming and development To investigate the submerged landscapes archaeologists use many of the same technologies developed for discovery of shipwrecks but couple them with anthropological and environmental models to identify and study the way of life of people residing in these ancient lands In this book leading figures associated with submerged site exploration share an emphasis on the conduct and results of underwater research It will be a fascinating read for advanced students of Archaeology History and Environmental Studies This volume was originally published as a special issue of The Journal of Island and Coastal Archaeology British and Irish Archaeology, 1994

Archaeologist's Manual for Conservation Bradley A. Rodgers, 2007-05-08 This is a Foreword by an archaeologist not a conservator but as Brad Rodgers says Conservation has been steadily pulled from archaeology by the forces of specialization p 3 and he wants to remedy that situation through this manual He sees this work as a call to action for the non professional conservator permitting curators conservators and archaeologists to identify artifacts that need professional attention and allow these professionals to stabilize most artifacts in their own laboratories with minimal intervention using simple non toxic procedures p 5 It is the mission of Brad's manual to bring conservation back into archaeology p 6 The degree of success of that goal depends on the degree to which archaeologists pay attention to and put to use what Brad has to say because as he says The conservationist archaeologist is responsible to make preparation for an artifact's care even before it is excavated and after its storage into the foreseeable future a tremendous responsibility p 10 The manual is a combination of highly technical as well as common sense methods of conserving wood iron and other metals ceramics glass and stone organics and composites a far better guide to artifact conservation than was available to me when I first faced that archaeological challenge at colonial Brunswick Town North Carolina in 1958 a challenge still being faced by archaeologists today The stage of conservation in 1958 is in dramatic contrast to the procedures Brad describes in this manual conservation has indeed made great progress For instance a common procedure then was to heat the artifacts red hot in a furnace a method that made me cringe
