Dear Journal,

Today was another long day. I made up my mind to help Maria with the washing. My friends were all at the school, but we needed the extra money and Maria had to go to the factory. I was left alone to look for work again. The need to find a steady job at the factory had been my best hope. Now, the walls from the factory to the house, trying to find a steady job at the factory. Most days, he comes home with nothing but sad eyes and a quiet sigh.

For lunch, the dinner again, Maria looked sad with some potatoes and onions, and I was as far as she could. I could tell she was still hungry, but she gave the best bit to my little brother. I try not to complain, but my stomach grows all the time now. For dinner, I walked past the soup kitchen in town. The line stretched around the block. The people looked like they hadn't eaten in days. I was lucky to have a meal at home, even if it wasn't much.

I wonder what things will get better. Papa says we have to keep hoping. I try, but sometimes, the food is as empty as my plate.
