This Handbook is comprised of chapters by leading clinicians, researchers, and scholars in this area of practice. It presents a framework for learning the skills needed for assessing and working competently with such high-risk individuals. Chapters draw a distinction between behavioral emergencies and crises and between emergency intervention and crisis intervention. The book examines the inter-related aspects of the major behavioral emergencies that is, for example, the degree to which interpersonal victimization may lead an individual on a pathway to later suicidal or violent behavior or the degree to which suicidal individuals and violent individuals may share certain cognitive characteristics.
