Historical Materialism Nikolai Bukharin, 2013-12 2013 Reprint of 1925 English Edition from the Authorized Translation of the Third Russian Edition. Exact facsimile of the original edition not reproduced with Optical Recognition Software. Historical materialism is a methodological approach to the study of society, economics, and history, first articulated by Karl Marx in 1818-1883 as the materialist conception of history. It is a theory of socioeconomic development according to which changes in material conditions, technology, and productive capacity are the primary influence on how society and the economy are organized. Historical materialism looks for the causes of developments and changes in human society in the means by which humans collectively produce the necessities of life. Social classes and the relationship between them, plus the political structures and ways of thinking in society, are founded on and reflect contemporary economic activity. First published in English in 1925, this work by Nikolai Bukharin, a highly influential Marxist and Soviet Politician who would later become one of the most famous victims of Stalin's show trials, expands upon Karl Marx's theory of historical materialism. Historical Materialism Nikolaï Bukharin, 1925 Historical Materialism N. dialectical development of economic thought from the Physiocrats through Marx to the present It is a broad treatment of the history of intellectual thought that bridges economic and the social sciences on the one hand with natural science and biology in particular on the other The author is concerned with systems theory and treats the economy from the perspective of the biophysical thermodynamic dimensions of the economic processes He closes his analysis with a discussion of organizational theory that relates to the formation of institutions and the issues of freedom in a technically dominated society The book comes full circle in examining the moral and ethical concerns that first influenced the Physiocrats and other founding fathers of economic science
