History of the California Text-Book Plan (Classic Reprint) California; Dept; Of Public Instruction, 2015-07-08
Excerpt from History of the California d104 Book Plan What is known as the California d104book System began when the legislature of 1883 submitted the Perry amendment to the constitution providing for state publication of textbooks in the following words Sec 7 The governor superintendent of public instruction and the principals of the state normal schools shall constitute the State Board of Education and shall compile or cause to be compiled and adopt a uniform series of textbooks for use in the common schools throughout the state The state board may cause such textbooks when adopted to be printed and published by the superintendent of state printing at the state printing office and when so printed and published to be distributed and sold at the cost price of printing publishing and distributing the same The textbooks so adopted shall continue in use not less than four years This was adopted by the people by an almost unanimous vote in November 1884 and was followed by the necessary enabling legislation in 1885 By 1886 the State Board had prepared and the state printer had published four books by use of an appropriation of 170 000 of which 20 000 was for compiling and 150 000 for plant material and labor The feeling of that time is interesting to observe as reported by W T Welcker the superintendent of public instruction in his report to the governor in 1886 The opponents of this measure the Perry amendment although they were not successful were able and fiercely zealous It was indeed a novel experiment and a great departure from all known methods In opposition it was urged that the State Board of Education would prove incompetent that granting their ability to discharge their appropriate duties this was a work of expertism of a rare and special kind that the preparation of school textbooks was a trade in itself which required years of training in that particular business About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1997 Postcolonial Readings of Music in World Literature Cameron Fae Bushnell,2013

This book reads representations of Western music in literary texts to reveal the ways in which artifacts of imperial culture function within contemporary world literature Bushnell argues that Western music s conventions for performance composition and listening established during the colonial period persist in postcolonial thought and practice Music from the Baroque Classical and Romantic periods Bach through Brahms coincides with the rise of colonialism and Western music contains imperial attitudes and values embedded within its conventions standards and rules The book focuses on the culture of classical music as reflected in the worlds of characters and texts and contends that its effects outlast the historical significance of the real composers pieces styles and forms Through examples by authors such as McEwan Vikram Seth Bernard MacLaverly Chang rae Lee and J M Coetzee the book demonstrates how Western music enters narrative as both acts of history and as structures of analogy that suggest subject positions human relations and political activity that in turn describes a postcolonial condition The uses to which Western music is put in each literary text reveals how European art music of the seventeenth through the nineteenth centuries is read and misread by postcolonial generations exposing mostly hidden cultural structures that influence our contemporary understandings of social relations and hierarchies norms for resolution and for assigning significance and standards of propriety The book presents strategies for thinking anew about the persistence of cultural imperialism reading Western music simultaneously as representative of imperial cultural dominance and as suggestive of resistant structures forms and practices that challenge the imperial hegemony

A Preface to Mark Christopher Bryan,1997-02-27 A Preface to Mark is a literary study which from the standpoint of the newer critical methodologies explores two questions First Bryan attempts to determine what kind of text Mark would have been seen to be both by its author and by others who encountered it near the time of its writing He examines whether Mark should be seen as an example of any particular literary type and if so which He concludes that a comparison of Mark with other texts of the period leads inevitably to the conclusion that Mark s contemporaries would broadly have characterized his work as a life Second Bryan looks at the evidence that exists to indicate whether Mark like so much else of its period was written to be read aloud He points out ways in which Mark s narrative would have worked particularly well as rhetoric The first examination of Mark as a whole in the light of contemporary studies of orality and oral transmission A Preface to Mark not only shows us Mark in its original setting but also suggests ways in which our own encounter with Mark's text may be significantly enriched. Its accessible style will serve as a good introduction to the Gospel for students as well as the general reader.
