Observations Upon the Natural History of Epidemic Diarrhoea (Classic Reprint)

O. H. Peters, 2018-02-06 Excerpt from Observations Upon the Natural History of Epidemic Diarrhoea The causative agencies from which springs the plentiful harvest of child mortality in large cities may be conceived as a felted mass of rootlets almost inextricably intertwined Those of poverty bad housing bad feeding and neglect may be severally recognized but the extent of their interrelations with actual respiratory and alimentary disease those to which the greater part of the mortality is referred can be traced only with difficulty It is the object Of this work to aid In the labour of cutting away the matrix and entangling fibres and to lay bare the hidden ramifications of at least one important causative agency epidemic diarrhoea This affection if we accept provisionally the more novel and generally favoured conception As to its nature is revealed as something very like an ordinary infectious disease and one which permeates all classes while the excessive mortality it gathers round itself in urban centres must be regarded as something superadded owing to the vicious circle it forms with those baneful conditions of slum life mentioned above On the other hand its peculiarly intimate association with the circumstances of domestic life from the continual faecal pollution of the interior of the household by infants and others tends to make it more so than other affections of the kind peculiarly a class disease and an especial scourge of dirty neighbourhoods Dirty towns may however be saved from excessive mortality by a high percentage of breast feeding A notable point in the interesting comparison that can be drawn between diarrhoea and typhoid fever is that in accordance with their peculiarly opposite age incidence curves the marked and habitual depositing of infectious excreta within the household in the former disease may make the question of water closet versus conservancy pan a matter of far less importance than in the latter About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections

Muslim religious persuasion Sometimes called Melungeons these early settlers were among the earliest nonnative Americans to live in the Carolinas Tennessee Kentucky Virginia and West Virginia For fear of discrimination since Muslims Jews Indians and other persons of color were often disenfranchised and abused the Melungeons were reticent regarding their heritage In fact over time many of the Melungeons themselves forgot where they came from Hence today the Melungeons remain the last lost tribe in America even to themselves Yet Hirschman supported by DNA testing genealogies and a variety of historical documents suggests that the Melungeons included such notable early Americans as Daniel Boone John Sevier Abraham Lincoln Jefferson Davis and Andrew Jackson Once lost but now forgotten no more Guide to Reprints ,2005 Billy the Kid George R. Matthews,2025-02-04 This new in depth life of Henry McCarty alias Billy Bonney alias Billy the Kid offers fresh perspectives not only on the Lincoln County War and his boyhood in Silver City New Mexico but also on his Irish mother s origins and immigration to Indiana his public school education in Indianapolis the McCarty family s moves to Wichita Kansas and Santa Fe and his two year outlaw adventures in Arizona For the first time the whole person emerges This biography brings together a huge amount of material much of it made available to researchers only in recent years The result is an original authoritative and provocative portrait of Billy the Kid as both outlaw and frontier fighter against the infamously corrupt Santa Fe Ring Our Town Cynthia Carr,2007-03-27 The brutal lynching of two young black men in Marion Indiana on August 7 1930 cast a shadow over the town that still lingers It is only one event in the long and complicated history of race relations in Marion a history much ignored and considered by many to be best forgotten But the lynching cannot be forgotten It is too much a part of the fabric of Marion too much ingrained even now in the minds of those who live there In Our Town journalist Cynthia Carr explores the issues of race loyalty and memory in America through the lens of a specific hate crime that occurred in Marion but could have happened anywhere Marion is our town America s town and its legacy is our legacy Like everyone in Marion Carr knew the basic details of the lynching even as a child three black men were arrested for attempted murder and rape and two of them were hanged in the courthouse square a fate the third miraculously escaped Meeting James Cameron the man who d survived led her to examine how the quiet Midwestern town she loved could harbor such dark secrets Spurred by the realization that like her millions of white Americans are intimately connected to this hidden history Carr began an investigation into the events of that night racism in Marion the presence of the Ku Klux Klan past and present in Indiana and her own grandfather s involvement She uncovered a pattern of white guilt and indifference of black anger and fear that are the hallmark of race relations across the country In a sweeping narrative that takes her from the angry energy of a white supremacist rally to the peaceful fields of Weaver once an all black settlement neighboring Marion in search of the good and the bad in the story of race in America Carr returns to her roots to seek out the fascinating people and places that have shaped the town Her intensely compelling account of the Marion lynching and of her own family s secrets offers a fresh examination of the complex legacy of whiteness in America Part mystery part history part true crime saga Our Town is a riveting read that lays bare a raw and little chronicled facet of our national memory and provides a starting point toward reconciliation with the past On August 7 1930 three black teenagers were dragged from their jail cells in Marion Indiana and beaten before a howling mob Two of them were hanged by fate the third escaped A photo taken that night shows the bodies hanging from the tree but focuses on the faces in the crowd some enraged some laughing and some subdued perhaps already feeling the first pangs of regret Sixty three years later journalist Cynthia Carr began searching the photo for her grandfather s face The Last Gladiator Scott Beekman,2025 A biography of a famous but forgotten Progressive era athlete physical culturalist and sports regulator Auburn John Martin Smith,2002 The citizens of Auburn Indiana ensure that their city is truly special among the 22 Auburns in the United States From the time of foraging hogs and cows roaming its streets to nude swimming at the YMCA pool the landscape of this small town is ever changing and often surprising Auburn s past is full of many exceptional instances of residents fighting against injustice including hosting stops along the Underground Railroad and raising Company K of the 44th Indiana Volunteer Infantry to serve the Union during the Civil War Even before Auburn became a city in 1900 her devoted people displayed how difficulties can be turned into opportunities and they have always risen to the challenge Auburn The Classic City reveals these stories and much more about this big impact city with the small town feel Once called Little Detroit Auburn featured prominently in the automobile era producing 24 different makes of cars before 1937 a heritage now preserved in its world class museums This lush transportation history also earned the town the name Home of the Classics Featured here are highlights from this time as well as such tales as the raid on the police department by John Dillinger s gang Readers journey alongside the persistent people who transformed this community into the DeKalb County seat where the tree lined streets historic residences and beautiful city parks belie the city s illustrious tradition of industry and innovation In Auburn The Classic City more than 100 never before published photographs accompany the artful narrative The National union catalog, 1968-1972 ,1973

The National Union Catalogs, 1963- ,1964 Glastenbury Tyler Resch,2008-04-01 The curious history of a tiny town that all but disappeared Includes photos Founded by a famously scheming New Hampshire governor Glastenbury struggled for over a century to break triple digits in population A small charcoal making industry briefly flourished after the Civil War yet by 1920 Glastenbury counted fewer than twenty inhabitants The end came officially in 1937 when the state following a spirited debate formally disincorporated the town Yet Glastenbury s legacy lives on in Tyler Resch s lively and amusing history Follow Resch as he chronicles the community s compelling if always precarious existence From mysterious murders and curious development schemes to the township s eventual annexation by the US Forest Service Glastenbury tells the ultimately redemptive tale of a community that lost its political status only to gain a national forest Bulletin of the New York State Museum of Natural History ,1920 Monuments and Memory in Early Modern England Peter Sherlock,2008 This book is a study of the material culture of memory in sixteenth and seventeenth century England in the form of monuments to the dead By interpreting messages of their images and inscriptions it explores how early modern people wanted to be remembered
