The Conservation Movement Miles Glendinning, 2013 Winner of the 2016 Antoinette Forrester Downing Award presented by the Society of Architectural Historians In many cities across the world particularly in Europe old buildings form a prominent part of the built environment and we often take it for granted that their contribution is intrinsically positive How has that widely shared belief come about and is its continued general acceptance inevitable Certainly ancient structures have long been treated with care and reverence in many societies including classical Rome and Greece But only in modern Europe and America in the last two centuries has this care been elaborated and energised into a forceful dynamic ideology a Conservation Movement infused with a sense of historical destiny and loss that paradoxically shared many of the characteristics of Enlightenment modernity The close inter relationship between conservation and modern civilisation was most dramatically heightened in periods of war or social upheaval beginning with the French Revolution and rising to a tragic climax in the 20th century age of totalitarian extremism more recently the troubled relationship of heritage and global commercialism has become dominant Miles Glendinning s new book authoritatively presents for the first time the entire history of this architectural Conservation Movement and traces its dramatic fluctuations in ideas and popularity ending by questioning whether its recent international ascendancy can last indefinitely

International Heritage and Historic Building Conservation Zeynep Aygen, 2013-03-05 The majority of books in English on historic building conservation and heritage preservation training are often restricted to Western architecture and its origins Consequently the history of building conservation the study of contemporary paradigms and case studies in most universities and within wider interest circles predominantly in the UK Europe and USA focus mainly on Europe and sometimes the USA although the latter is often excluded from European publications With an increasingly multicultural student body in Euro American universities and with a rising global interest in heritage preservation there is an urgent need for publications to cover a larger geographical and social area including not only Asia Australia Africa and South America but also previously neglected countries in Europe like the new members of the European Community and the northern neighbour of the USA Canada The inclusion of the other in built environment education in general and in building conservation in particular is a pre requisite of cultural interaction and widening participation International Heritage and Historic Building Conservation assesses successful contemporary conservation paradigms from around the world The book evaluates conservation case studies from previously excluded areas of the world to create an integrated account of Historic Building Conservation that crosses the boundaries of language and culture and sets an example for further inclusive research Analyzing the influence of financial constraints regional conflicts and cultural differences on the heritage of disadvantaged countries this leading edge volume is essential for researchers and students of heritage studies interested in understanding their topics in a wider framework
