Phan, Oxford Editor, 2025-10-07 This book essays a not the Christian theology of migration The phenomenon of human migration that is the movement of people to and settlement temporary or permanent in a new area or country its causes and reasons and its historical anthropological social political legal and cultural dimensions have been widely studied and reasonably well understood and the next chapter will discuss them in detail By contrast theology as an academic discipline seems least capable of illuminating this human phenomenon It appears to most people outside the church and its educational institutions to be at best an esoteric subject and at worst a convoluted and useless mumbo jumbo especially when liberally sprinkled with Greek and Latin phrases Why not leave the study of migration to scholars in history sociology anthropology economics politics and law who albeit no less infected with highfalutin language than theologians do at least try to offer practical policies and effective strategies either for or against immigration Provided by publisher Asian American History Day by Day Jonathan H. Superior Angela Saini,2019-05-21 This fascinating critique of race science from the Enlightenment to the 21st century is an easy to read blend of science reporting cultural criticism and personal reflection Slate An important and timely reminder that race is a social construct with no basis in biology Kirkus Reviews After the horrors of the Nazi regime in World War II the mainstream scientific world turned its back on eugenics and the study of racial difference But a worldwide network of intellectual racists and segregationists quietly founded journals and funded research providing the kind of shoddy studies that were ultimately cited in Richard Herrnstein and Charles Murray s 1994 title The Bell Curve which purported to show differences in intelligence among races If the vast majority of scientists and scholars disavowed these ideas and considered race a social construct it was an idea that still managed to somehow survive in the way scientists thought about human variation and genetics Dissecting the statements and work of contemporary scientists studying human biodiversity most of whom claim to be just following the data Angela Saini shows us how again and again even mainstream scientists cling to the idea that race is biologically real As our understanding of complex traits like intelligence and the effects of environmental and cultural influences on human beings from the molecular level on up grows the hope of finding simple genetic differences between races to explain differing rates of disease to explain poverty or test scores or to justify cultural assumptions stubbornly persists At a time when racialized nationalisms are a resurgent threat throughout the world Superior is a rigorous much needed examination of the insidious and destructive nature of race science and a powerful reminder that biologically we are all far more alike than different
