The Flying Elephant Jeeves B.,2006-08 In order to develop a fertile imagination in children we cannot over emphasize the value of a story with a lesson It is quite easy and effective to spell bind a child with an interesting story that conveys an important message With this in view Jeeves wrote the stories that are not only fascinating but also significant in their meaning There are two main stories that are composed for this purpose The other stories also follow the same objective That was the reason they were retold by the author and included in the present volume The first story aims mostly on training the child in moral values Then follow some short stories that have been borrowed from other sources and retold by the author purely for their merit These stories are entertaining as much as instructive They are quite forceful in conveying their message that no child could do without Sometimes children want a daring story that may even scare them a little However the same purpose can be served by them too The last story does exactly that It takes a somewhat different approach albeit toward the same goal

Caroline and Papa Ronald B. Schram, 2008-11. I had the career of a lifetime. I was a teacher. I began my teaching career believing that one person could make a difference, and throughout the years I never lost sight of that conviction. Teaching connected me to my students in ways quite humorous as well as heart-breaking. I hope the reader laughs a lot and cries only a little while walking in my footsteps as an educator. Laugh with me as you read about Fred the crusty cockroach we set free to find his wife and eighty-seven children. In addition, there is always my favorite story about the scary monster under the bed holding a student's homework hostage. I fed a rooster and his hens bread crumbs for breakfast each morning until they tried to follow me in single file into the school board building one day. Some difficult students in summer school mistakenly believed my black patent leather belt to be a black belt in Karate. Who was I to tell them differently? Coming right on top of the laughs were the times I went home to cry. I remember the student new to our school who went home one evening and hung himself; his cries for help coming too late. I remember with equal sadness the foster child we sponsored in Kenya who died because help did not reach him in time. Closer to home was the overage student who was shot and killed while he participated in a home invasion just days after he finished summer school. Outside factors reached inside our classroom as well, reeking havoc with the emotions of both the children and me. The disastrous space shuttle with the teacher on board happened before our very eyes while the greatest tragedy of all was the destruction of the twin towers on 9/11. These stories and many more comprise my educational career, and although there was no easy button, I would do it all over again. I was a teacher.
