Jesus as Teacher in the Gospel of Mark

Evan Hershman, 2020-04-16 Evan Hershman seeks to examine Mark's portrayal of Jesus as teacher in comparison with portrayals of teachers in contemporary Greco-Roman literature and argues that the teaching motif in Mark is used in highly distinctive ways. He argues that careful study reveals Mark's use of the trope does not aim to expound a fully fleshed out ethical agenda but rather to emphasize Jesus's unique authority incorporate conflicts with other claimants to authority into the Gospel narrative and persuade the gospel audience to accept his Christological vision and its demands on their lives. Hershman develops these three related themes behind the motif of moral instruction and offers suggestions for how this portrayal of Jesus fits with the historical and social context in which the Gospel was written. By analyzing not only teaching and authority throughout Mark but also numerous Greek and Greco-Roman texts concerning teachers and learning Hershman creates a new reading of significant Markan passages such as the parables discourse and the temple incident in light of a focus on the importance of Jesus's teachings to the plot of the Gospel.

Hellenistic Dimensions of the Gospel of Matthew

Robert S. Kinney, 2016-04-11 In the search for Matthean theology scholars overwhelmingly approach the Gospel of Matthew as the most Jewish Gospel. Studies of its Sitz im Leben focus on its relationship to Judaism whether arguing from the perspective that Matthew wrote from a cloistered Jewish community or as the leader of a Gentile rebellion against such a Jewish community. While this is undoubtedly an important and necessary discussion for understanding the Gospel it often assumes too much about the relationship between Judaism and Hellenism via Martin Hengel. Robert S. Kinney argues for a hybridized perspective in which Matthew's attention to Jewish sources and ideas is not denied but in which echoes of Greek and Roman sources can be observed focusing on identifying Matthew's use of rhetoric and its possible echoes of Greco-Roman philosophical discourse gathering teachers.

Readings in Late Antiquity

Michael Maas, 2012-08-06 Late Antiquity ca. 250-650 witnessed the transition from Classical Antiquity to the Middle Ages in the Mediterranean and Near Eastern worlds. Christianity displaced polytheism over a wide area offering new definitions of identity and community. The Roman Empire collapsed in Western Europe to be replaced by new Germanic kingdoms. In the East Byzantium emerged while the Persian Empire reached its apogee and collapsed. Arab armies carrying the banner of Islam reshaped the political map and brought the late antique era to a close. This sourcebook illustrates the dramatic political, social and religious transformations of Late Antiquity through the words of the men and women who experienced them. Drawing from Greek, Latin, Syriac, Hebrew, Coptic, Persian, Arabic and Armenian sources the carefully chosen passages illuminate the lives of emperors, abbesses, aristocrats slaves children barbarian chieftains and saints The Roman Empire is kept at the centre of the discussion with chapters devoted to its government cities army law medicine domestic life philosophy Christianity polytheism and Jews Further chapters deal with the peoples who surrounded the Roman state Persians Huns northern Germanic barbarians and the followers of Islam This revised and updated second edition provides an expanded view of Late Antiquity with a new chapter on domestic life as well extra material throughout including passages that appear for the first time in English translation Readings in Late Antiquity is the only sourcebook that covers such a wide range of topics over the full breadth of the late antique period

Animals in Greek and Roman Thought Stephen T. Newmyer, 2010-11-09 Although reasoned discourse on human animal relations is often considered a late twentieth century phenomenon ethical debate over animals and how humans should treat them can be traced back to the philosophers and literati of the classical world From Stoic assertions that humans owe nothing to animals that are intellectually foreign to them to Plutarch's impassioned arguments for animals as sentient and rational beings it is clear that modern debate owes much to Greco Roman thought Animals in Greek and Roman Thought brings together new translations of classical passages which contributed to ancient debate on the nature of animals and their relationship to human beings The selections chosen come primarily from philosophical and natural historical works as well as religious poetic and biographical works The questions discussed include Do animals differ from humans intellectually Were animals created for the use of humankind Should animals be used for food sport or sacrifice Can animals be our friends The selections are arranged thematically and within themes chronologically A commentary precedes each excerpt transliterations of Greek and Latin technical terms are provided and each entry includes bibliographic suggestions for further reading

Pagans and Christians in Late Antiquity A. D. Lee, 2015-08-11 In Pagans and Christians in Late Antiquity A D Lee documents the transformation of the religious landscape of the Roman world from one of enormous diversity of religious practices and creeds in the 3rd century to a situation where by the 6th century Christianity had become the dominant religious force Using translated extracts from contemporary sources he examines the fortunes of pagans and Christians from the upheavals of the 3rd Century through the dramatic events associated with the emperors Constantine Julian and Theodosius in the 4th to the increasingly tumultuous times of the 5th and 6th centuries while also illustrating important themes in late antique Christianity such as the growth of monasticism the emerging power of bishops and the development of pilgrimage as well as the fate of other significant religious groups including Jews and Manichaeans This new edition has been updated to include additional documentary material including newly published papyri an expanded chapter on the emperor Constantine greater attention to church controversies in the fourth and fifth centuries thoroughly updated references and further reading taking into account developments in modern scholarship during the past fifteen years Pagans and Christians in Late Antiquity is an invaluable resource for students of the late antique world and of early Christianity and the early Church

Men and Women in the Household of God Korinna Zamfir, 2013-04-10 Korinna Zamfir explores the manner in which the Pastoral Epistles redefine roles and ministries within a changed ecclesiological framework the ekklesia as oikos Theou The contextual investigation focuses on the cultural and social background of the station codes and church orders Applying the environmental approach advanced by Abraham Malherbe Zamfir discusses the Pastoral Epistles as writings intimately linked to their Greco Roman social and cultural environment The volume addresses the mentalities reflected in moral philosophies political theories drama and epigraphy focusing on the discourse articulated in these sources Exploring the adoption of conservative mentalities the monograph advances a reading of the Pastoral Epistles based on ideology critique It also incorporates insights gained from research on the social world of earliest Christianity in particular on private associations Korinna Zamfir argues that the ecclesiology of the Pastoral Epistles presupposes the metaphorical use of oikos Theou and shows that in Greco Roman antiquity oikos denotes larger social entities like the religious association the polis and the cosmos The ekklesia is the oikos and polis of God As a consequence the Pastoral Epistles define roles and ministries based on the public private divide and on honor and shame mentality The theological and cosmic dimension of the household of God explains the essentialist understanding of social and ecclesial roles The author also tackles the contrast between discourse and ecclesial reality
