Punshon,2015-06-01 Description Mr Sargent the manager of the Brush Hill Central Cinema wished he had never held a Beauty Competition Caroline Mears the predicted winner had already caused trouble with one of the other girls Paul Irwin a strong Puritan and influential councillor had taken it into his head to come backstage to look for his son Leslie who hoped to marry Caroline against his father s wishes Just as the winner of the competition was being announced different news spread through the cinema like lightning Caroline Mears had been murdered Superintendent Mitchell of Scotland Yard and his young sergeant Bobby Owen were faced with one of the most puzzling cases of their careers There were at least seven suspects against four of whom an equally good case could be made out There was Paul Irwin s maddening reiteration that he had nothing to say to all questions and a multitude of confusing evidence none of which fitted the main jigsaw puzzle Conundrums abound in this whodunit one which will keep even the most seasoned mystery reader guessing right to the very last page Death of A Beauty Queen is the fifth of E R Punshon s acclaimed Bobby Owen mysteries first published in 1935 and part of a series which eventually spanned thirty five novels This edition features a new introduction by crime fiction historian Curtis Evans What is distinction The few who achieve it step plot or no plot unquestioned into the first rank We recognized it in Sherlock Holmes and in Trent's Last Case in The Mystery of the Villa Rose in the Father Brown stories and in the works of Mr E R Punshon we salute it every time Dorothy L Sayers

African Church Fathers - Ancient and Modern Hans S. A. Engdahl, 2021-01-26 This critical and close reading of two African theologians Origen 185-254 and Mbiti 1931-2019 focuses on the following areas philosophy African philosophy and religion and Platonic cosmology ecclesiology and eschatology a parallel presentation of these three themes leads to a fourth theme that of the resurrection where it is argued that there exists a consensus and a convergence between the two This reading also highlights two convictions that partly have caused strong criticism Mbiti has suggested that African philosophy and religion have a conception of time of their own Origen that all and everything is gradually moving towards an apokatastasis at which point all will be saved Yet the contention is that even more important to both Mbiti and Origen is the resurrection of Jesus Christ In order to establish the impact of the resurrection on their lives as Christians and as theologians a contrast reading has been undertaken i.e. texts are identified which underline the need to forge a link between the resurrection and the earthly ministry of Jesus These texts also underwrite the conviction of Mbiti as well as Origen of the resurrection as something which must be lived in church and society corporately as well as in personal devotion The fact of resurrection creates a new mode of life American Pigeon Journal, 1928

On the Voices, Contexts and Tasks of Theology: Experiments in Quaker and Feminist Thought Rachel Muers, 2025-10-16 Who is Christian theology for what is it for and what can it do Rachel Muers explores the voice of Christian theology the relationship between the subject of theology and theological discourse The book begins with the question how does someone speak of God understood not as a question about the criteria or authorised sources for theology but as a question of what is going on when theology is done

How is it possible to speak as this particular historical embodied subject about God Muers investigates voice through engagement with historical and contemporary theologians particularly but not only with women who are speaking from relatively marginalised positions and contending with the lack of societal authorisation for their theological work Recognising that the question of voice is often equated in the contemporary context with the representation of identities and with how spaces and institutions can facilitate that representation the narrative considers more directly how questions of identity and context particularly in relation to gender shape the construction and representation of systematic theology and of theological tradition Muers examines the vocation of theology particularly in the contemporary Western academy and alongside other humanities subjects and a concluding chapter sets out a vision for ecumenical theological work The book draws extensively on the author's own Quaker tradition and on her experience of teaching and mentoring theologians
