The Homegoing Juanita W. Morris, 2003-03 The Homegoing is an electrifying saga of a young woman's journey back home to face a mysterious family past that has plagued and destroyed so many lives Saved by adoption she had escaped the fate that her younger years held and was now living in happier times She was at the top of her game Life was good But then like a scream in the night a familiar voice from the past threatened to shatter her new world Death was beckoning the entire family together again and no one would be safe Who would survive the torrid winds of this thunderous gathering Could the love of family and her faith in God help her face the terrible legacy of her family s long held secrets Journey with her as she steps back into the past in search of truth Legacies and Lifespans in Contemporary Women's Writing Gina Wisker,Leanne Bibby,Heidi Yeandle,2023-07-03 This book examines the connections and conversations between women writers from the twentieth century and the twenty first century The essays consider the ways in which twenty first century women writers look back and respond to their predecessors within the field of contemporary women s writing The book looks back to the foundations of contemporary women s writing and also considers how this category may be defined in future decades We ask how writers and readers have interpreted the contemporary a moving target and an often contentious term especially in light of feminist theory and criticism of the late twentieth century Writing about the relationships between women s writings is an always vital ongoing political project with a rich history These essays argue that establishing and defining the contemporary is for women writers another ongoing political project to which this collection of essays aims in part to contribute

The Proof Is in My Faith Evangelist Beverly Brooks, 2021-08-06 Throughout my life I have had to travel the hills mountains and rocky roads and through those rough times I could see that there were those second footprints letting me know that I wasn t alone Many recognized others as their hero put them in the spotlight and indoctrinated them into the hall of fame In this book I want to shine the spotlight on God and His Son Jesus Christ who are responsible for me being the woman of God that I am today and to share the personal experiences that I have had with Him Through my trials and tests I was never alone and although I couldn't physically see Him I knew He was there Many times I felt His presence I couldn't understand why I had struggled like I had but it was in the blink of a moment that it all was revealed to me For a time such as this I would be able to share my testimonies of how God has been my waymaker miracle worker and a promise keeper He has been my light in the darkness and people must know of His wondrous works so God can get the glory and that others might believe and know that God is who He says He is This book is written in the promotion of God's kingdom for people to see that whatever our challenges are we don't have to give up because man's extremities are God's opportunity to show up and show out What we can't do with the ability that He has given us He can miraculously do for us through our faith Verse and Vision: A Creative Tapestry of English Literature Pooja K N, Kowser M, 2025-08-23

Verse and Vision: A Creative Tapestry of English Literature is an inspiring book that unites diverse voices to explore the many dimensions of literature From feminist perspectives and environmental themes to digital storytelling myth and marginalised narratives each chapter offers fresh insights and creative interpretations Blending critical thought with imaginative vision this collection celebrates literature as a living dialogue that transcends boundaries of genre time and culture A must read for students educators and literature lovers it invites readers to think feel and create beyond the page The Rights War in Literature and Culture Jennifer Rickel, 2025-07-31

The Rights War in Literature and Culture tracks how the human rights framework is weaponized against the oppressed and it makes the case for the central place of literature in understanding this seizure of narrative control While literary humanitarianism depoliticizes suffering and positions the reader as a savior to traumatized Others Rights War shows how contemporary fiction by women of color and queer writers across the African diaspora engage innovative narrative paradigms to address structural inequities It analyzes strategies set out in this literature for disarming savior victimism which it identifies as a pernicious cultural phenomenon in which the powerful proclaim themselves saviors to and victims of those they marginalize As the disassociation of national rights from international human rights and the disconnection of civil and political rights from social and economic rights provoke a contest of victimhood this book offers a renewed argument for the indivisibility of rights and the social justice function of literature Fighting for Dignity Sarah S. Willen, 2021-05-07

Fighting for Dignity explores the impact of a mass deportation campaign on African and Asian migrant workers in Tel Aviv and their Israeli born children In this vivid ethnography Sarah Willen shows how undocumented migrants struggle to craft meaningful flourishing lives despite the exclusion and vulnerability they endure Writing Backwards Alexander Manshel, 2023-11-21

Finalist 2025 SHARP Book History Book Prize Society for the Study of the History of Authorship Reading and Publishing Contemporary fiction has never been less contemporary Midcentury writers tended to set their works in their own moment but for the last several decades critical acclaim and attention have fixated on historical fiction This shift is particularly dramatic for writers of color Even as the literary canon has become more diverse cultural institutions have celebrated Black Asian American Latinx and Indigenous novelists almost exclusively for their historical fiction Writing Backwards explores what the dominance of historical fiction in the contemporary canon reveals about American literary culture Alexander Manshel investigates the most celebrated historical genres contemporary narratives of slavery the World War II novel the multigenerational family saga immigrant fiction and the novel of recent history alongside the literary and academic institutions that have elevated them He examines novels by writers including Toni Morrison Viet Thanh Nguyen Colson Whitehead Julia Alvarez Leslie Marmon Silko Michael Chabon Julie Otsuka Yaa Gyasi Ben Lerner and Tommy Orange in the context of MFA programs literary prizes university syllabi book clubs and the National Endowment for the Arts Manshel studies how historical fiction has evolved over the last half century documenting the formation of the newly inclusive literary canon as well as who and what it still excludes Offering new insight into how institutions shape literature and the limits of historical memory Writing Backwards also considers recent challenges to the historical turn in American fiction
